Instructions to Military Commanders—Political Situation South—The Seymour and Blair Doctrine Developing—Pacific Railroad Subsidy—September Congressional Session—Perry Fuller Gets an Office—The Indians—Bodies of Murdered Men Discovered—Appointments Under the Revenue Law.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26, 1868.

Instructions as follows have been sent to Maj. Gen. Geo. G. Meade, commanding the Department of the South, at Atlanta, Maj. Gen. Geo. H. Thomas, commanding the Department of the Cumberland, at Louisville, and to Brevet Maj. Gen. R. C. Buchanan, commanding the Department of Louisiana, at New Orleans. The letter to Gen. Buchanan was published some days ago:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26, 1868.

Maj. Gen. Geo. G. Meade, U. S. A., Commanding the Department of the South at Atlanta, Ga.

GENERAL: In reply to your request for instructions relative to the use of troops under your command in aid of the civil authorities, the Secretary of War directs to be furnished for your information and government the enclosed a copy of the letter of instructions to Brevet Maj. Gen. Buchanan, commanding the Department of Louisiana, dated August 18th, 1868, and of a letter from the Attorney General of the United States to Alexander Magruder, Esq., U. S. Marshal of the Northern District of Alabama, dated August 28th, 1868.

The letter to Gen. Buchanan indicates conditions under wh ch the military force of the United States may be employed to suppress insurrection against the Government of any State and prescribes the duties of the Department Commander in reference thereto.

The letter of the Attorney General sets forth the conditions under which the Marshals and Sheriffs may command the assistance of troops in their respective districts or counties to execute lawful precepts issued to them by competent authority.

The obligations of the military, individual officer and soldier, in common with all citizens, to obey the summons of a Marshal or Sheriff, must be held subordinate to their paramount duty as members of a permanent military body, since the troops can act only in their proper organized capacity, under their own officers and in obedience to the immediate orders of those officers. The officer commanding troops summoned to the aid of a Marshal or Sheriff must also judge for himself, and upon his own official responsibility, whether the service required is lawful and necessary and is compatible with the proper discharge of his ordinary military duties, and must limit his action absolutely to proper aid in the execution of the lawful precepts exhibited to him by the Marshal or Sheriff. If time will permit, every demand from a civil officer for military aid, whether for the execution of a civil process or to suppress insurrection, should be forwarded to the President, with all the material facts of the case, for his orders, and in all cases to the highest commander, whose orders can be given in time to meet the emergency, will alone assume the responsibility of action. By a timely disposition of troops where there is reason to apprehend a necessity for their use, then passive interposition between hostile parties, the danger of any collision may be avoided. Department Commanders, and in cases of necessity their subordinates, are expected in this regard to exercise on their own responsibility a wise discretion, to the end that peace may be preserved.

By command of Gen. Grant,
J. C. KELTON,
Assistant Adjutant General.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE,
August 20, 1868.

Alex. Magruder, Esq., United States Marshal Northern District Florida, St. Augustine, Florida:

SIR: Your letter of the 12th instant reached me yesterday and has received attentive consideration. Col. Sprague's information to you must have been based on his own construction of Gen. Meade's order, lately issued, and not upon any special instructions from the President to Col. Sprague through Gen. Meade or otherwise, as no such special instructions have been issued by the President. You add:

"Under some circumstances I should be glad to have the aid of the military, and if practicable would be pleased to have instructions given to the military to aid me when necessary. I ask this as Col. Sprague informs me under his instructions he cannot do so."

This desire and request for the aid of the military, under certain circumstances, I understand to refer to the occasional necessity that may arise that a Marshal should have the means of obtaining the aid and attendance of a more considerable force than his regular deputies supply for the execution of legal processes in his district. The twenty-seventh section of the Judiciary act of 1789 establishes the office of Marshal and names among his duties and powers the following:

"And to execute throughout the District all lawful precepts directed to him and issued under the antho ity of the United States, and he shall have power to command all necessary assistance in the execution of his duty, and appoint, as may be the occasion, one or more deputies."

You will observe from this that the only measure of assistance which you have power to command is that necessary for the execution of your duty, and upon your discreet judgment uuder your official responsibility, the law reposes the determination of what force each particular necessity requires. This power of the Marshal is equivalent to that of the Sheriff, and with either embraces a resort in necessity to the whole power of the precinct, county or district over which the officer's authority extends. In defining this subject Attorney General Cushing, as I understand the subject, correctly says comprises every person in the district or county above the age of fifteen years, whether civilians or not, including the military of all denominations, militia soldiers and mariners, all of whom are likebound to obey a Sheriff or Marshal. While, however, the law gives you this power to command all necessary, the military within your district are not exempt from obligations to obey, in common with citizens, your summons in case of necessity. You will be particular to observe that this high and responsible authority is given to the Marshal only in aid of his duty to execute throughout the district all lawful precepts directed to him and issued under the authority of the United States, and only in case of necessity for this extraordinary aid. The military persons obeying this command of the Marshal will act in subordination and obedience to the civil officers and the Marshal in whose aid in the execution of process they are called, and only to the effect of securing its execution. The special duty and authority in the execution of process issued to you must not be confounded with the duty and authority of the suppression of disorder and preserving the peace, which, under our Government, belongs to the civil authorities of the States, and not the civil authorities of the United States. Nor is this special duty of the Marshal in executing process issued to him to be confounded with the authority and duty of the President of the United States, in the specific cases of the Constitution and under the regulations of the statutes, to protect the States against domestic violence, or with his authority, under special statutes, to employ military force in subduing combinations in resistance to the laws of the United States, for neither of these duties or authorities is shared by the subordinate officers of the Government, except when and as the same may be specifically communicated to them by the President.

I have thus called your attention to the general considerations bearing upon the subject to which your letter refers, for the purpose of securing due observance of the limits of your duty and authority, and in connection therewith nothing can be less in accordance with the nature of our government or the disposition of our people than a frequent resort to military aid in the execution of the duties confided to civil officers. Courage, vigor and intrepidity are appropriate qualities for the civil service, which the Marshals of the United States are expected to perform, and a reaffirment of their power by extraordinary means is permitted by the law only in extraordinary emergencies. If it shall be thought an occasion at any time exists for instruction to the military authorities of the United States with any of the States in connection with the execution of process of the Courts of the United Sta es, these instructions will be in accordance with the exigency then appearing. I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,
(Signed,) WM. M. EVARTS,
Attorney General.

THE INDIANS—DISCOVERY OF THE BODIES OF MURDERED MEN.

Special Indian Agent, W. J. Callen, writes to the Indian Bureau from Fort Benton, Montana, under date of July the 27th, enclosing letters which were found on the bodies of seven men who were murdered by Indians at a place called La Bonisa Woodyard, on the Missouri river, about eighty miles below Fort Holley. They were buried by Captain Hovey, of the steamer Leni Leoti, on the 4th of July. The names of six of the party were as follows: Henry Laubie, of Pittsburgh, Wm. Whittaker, of Philadelphia, L. Keyser, of St. Louis, Frank L. Burton, of Lagrange, Tennessee, —— Dowdle, of St. Louis, and a party named Jones, place of residence not stated. These men had been in the country only a few days, and it is believed had never molested or interfered with any Indians strolling through that country.

Special agent Callen had investigated the matter as fully as possible, and was convinced that the murders were committed by the Assinaboines. About two weeks before the date of his letter twenty of that tribe were killed by white men, which incensed the tribe, and they retaliated on innocent men. The agent says, the war having been commenced by the Indians, it is impossible to say where it may end, unless steps for their pacification are soon taken. He recommends that a treaty be made as soon as p acticable, or they may give serious trouble to the mail coach service, which is soon to be put in operation between Minnesota and Montana, and to settlers along the Missouri river.

There are also a number of bands of Sioux running through Montana who have committed some depredations, and have boasted to the Crows that they would commit others before winter. The agent also thinks a treaty should be made with these. They are a roving, boasting class, and their talk and actions may have a tendency to disaffect the mountain tribes.

POLITICAL SITUATION SOUTH—ASSASSINATION THE ORDER OF THE DAY.

Letters regarding affairs in the South continue to be received here from Republicans of that section, and they are uniformly of the same description. From Natchez, Mississippi, a leading Republican writes: "The Seymour-Blair doctrine is fully inaugurated here. Not a day passes but some of the whites and blacks are assassinated. Strange to say the murdered are always Republicans, while the murderers are always rebel Democra s; and still more strange, perhaps, is the fact that the rebel press, with one accord, declares these acts to be always committed in self defence. Every assassin is taken before a rebel magistrate and always released on straw bail." Another prominent Mississippian writes from Jackson that the Democracy are making desperate efforts to carry Louisiana, Arkansas, Georgia and Alabama, on the same plan they pursued in Mississippi. He strongly urges a meeting of Congress in September, and says the loyal militia must be organized and armed as in Tennessee. He says General Howard passed through Jac son on th 22d, and represented that an alarming condition of affairs prevai s in Georgia, and intelligence which he knows to be reliable gives the same accounts from Louisiana and Alabama.

A well known gentleman sends from Vicksburg the particulars of an attempted assassination of Judge J. S. Morris, by one of the Ku-Klux-Klan. He says: "These assassinations are of daily occurrence all over the State. General Gillem pretends to investigate all such outrages that come to his knowledge, but it is a noticeable fact that not one of these rebels has ever been punished for murdering a loyal man. I state most emphatically, and without fear of contradiction, that of the thousands of freedmen and Union men who have been murdered by the rebels of Mississippi since the war, not one has yet been punished by a rebel Judge, and they are the only kind we have in this State. They do not stand in fear of the laws. When they murder a loyal man they have no thought of being brought to condign punishment, since they murder indiscriminately as their brutal passions dictate." He concludes by giving his opinion that a September session of Congress is their salvation. The names of the gentlemen who write these letters are suppresed from prudential motives.

PACIFIC RAILROAD SUBSIDY.

Mr. Evarts gives the following opinion on the case of the Government subsidy to the Pacific Railroad. The document is dated at New York, August 24th: I have given a examination to the status regulating the construction of the Pacific Railroads in reference to the duty of the Executive upon the Commissioners' report of the satisfactory completion of successive sections of the ro d, and find it not very easy to lay out a practical course for Executive action which shall observe at once the conditions of rapid opening of the road to travel and security for the ultimate sufficiency of the structure, I presume that I shall be able to suggest a course which will meet the full obligation of the Executive in these respects, but it will require more time and attention than I have yet had at my command. I would, therefore, respectfully advise that the same course should be taken upon the sections of the Union Pacific Railroad, now ready for the advance of the Government subsidy, as has been taken heretofore, and that any change which may finally be determined on may safely be reserved for future applications. In the meantime, the attention of the company has been called to the situation of the work which has given rise to the solicitude of the Executive, and the satisfying of the Government as to the progress of the work on the sections heretofore accepted, to bring them up to the standard of permanent completion will, doubtless, be pressed upon the company by the Government Directors. Before any further application for subsidy will need to be acted upon by you, I shall have been able to give a full answer to the questions submitted to me.

PERRY FULLER GETS AN APPOINTMENT.

The President has ap; ointed Perry Fuller Collector of Customs at New Orleans, in spite of all the efforts made to prevent the giving of an office to this man. It is said that no man was ever so generally denounced by men of all parties as Fuller has been. An ex-army officer says in a letter to the President that Fuller is a very bad man, that he can scarcely write his own name; and that as an Indian agent he swindled the Government, and Mr. "Lo" in turo, and that he has seen him choke a redskin for a pig. Fuller has no politics or principles, and worships mammon assiduously. Yet some who know him will say that the army officers are jealous of him, and he is really a very clever gentleman.

Interest in Behalf of Laborers.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 26.—The Citizens Association recently sent letters to the Governors of the western States, asking the State authorities to co-operate with the Labor Bureau of the Commissioners of Charities in sending laborers to the west. The reply of Gov. Fletcher, of Missouri, is: "As soon as I can perfect arrangements at St. Louis, and establish a a system for obtaining information from the interior, so as to know at all times where they are wanted and how many are wanted, I will get an agent in New York and go to work in sending them out. To do this will require some four or five weeks, and I hope at the expiration of that time to be able to go to New York in person and assist the agent. We want all the labor in Missouri that we possibly can obtain, and will heartily join in every effort made to send us labor, and to benefit the poor laboring people by sending them to a place where labor is wanted and living is cheap, and where each of them having any industry and frugality may have a farm for themselves in a very short time. There are lands now subject to be taken under the homestead law in this State. These people only want to be able to live while they make a farm of their own. There is work enough for all the unemployed of your city in our grain fields and among the farmers who are extending their farms. There is no destitution, hunger or suffering among the poorest people of Missouri. Outside our cities we can employ 50,000 of your unemployed people."

The Great Yacht Race—Another Challenge—Negotiations Between Prussia and the United States—Affairs in France—Speech by Marshal Valliant.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

GREAT BRITAIN.

SOUTHAMPTON, August 26.—The defeat of the Sappho yesterday is explained by the fact that she was not in proper condition to enter the regatta, and in consequence met a series of provoking accidents, which really put her out of the race long before the conclusion. It seems the Sappho was in dock all right previous to the regatta undergoing repairs to her hull and rigging which were damaged last night in collision with the Enchantress. The work was hurriedly done that she might be ready for the race and the repairs were incomplete when the signal gun was fired. The yachts got a fair start. The Sappho was behind but steadily gaining on the Emma, when the foregaff topsail gave way. In spite of this accident she mended her speed and succeeded in passing the Ermina. She was pushing ahead under a fine headway and a good prospect of coming up with the others, when her fore bob-stay parted. Temporary repairs were made and the schooner was again making up for lost time when, in consequence of the loss of the bob-stay, her jib-boom broke off. All efforts to finish the race on her part were then abandoned.

Following is a table of the time of all the yachts: Cambria, 6 hours 17 minutes; Aline, 6 hours 19 minutes; Ermina, 6 hours 2 minutes 2 seconds; Candor, 6 hours 2 minutes 5 seconds; Sappho, 8 hours.

Captain Baldwin, of the Sappho, says that had breakages not occurred the American boat would have won the race, and he offers a new challenge to the English yachts for a long run at sea. On board the Sappho during the race were Cols. Armytage and Vonschoylt, Captain Legard, Mr. Grinnell, Mr. Jones, the owner of the yacht Messanda, and others. The schooner Cimbria, which won the race, was built at Cowes.

LONDON, August 26.—Letters from Paris state the Queen of Spain had requested the Emperor Napoleon to meet her at Biarritz, and that the Emperor had declined the interview.

FRANCE.

PARIS, August 26.—Marshal Vailiant, Minister of the Emperor's household, was present at the opening of the Council of Dyon, and made a speech calculated to have a highly tranquilizing effect, coming so soon after that of the Emperor. He congratulated the members of the Council and the people of the Department on the successful harvests. The blessings of abundant crops he said was the more readily appreciated by the people as they had reason to feel assured by recent events that they would enjoy their prosperity in peace. The Marshal made a happy allusion to the late speech of the Emperor, which he cited in support of his declarations, and concluded his remarks with this sentence: "Abundance is peace, but not maintained at the expense of patriotism." This is a summary of the present position of France.

BERLIN, August 26.—Official journals here say the Prussian government has accepted the proposals made by the govrnment of the United States for the establishment of effective regulations for the protection and welfare of emigrants, and that an agent has been appointed to negotiate with the American authorities on the subject.

It is understood the Prussian Minister at Washington has been instructed that as the national relations of Germany and the United States are on such favorable footing, the Prussian Government expects these negatiations will be brought to a speedy and satisfactory result.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 26.—Foreign mail advices to the 15th, state that it was generally rumored in English political circles, that an understanding had been arrived at between Mr. Gladstone and the Roman Catholic Bishops of Ireland, that once the disestablishment of the Irish Protestant Church is sanctioned by Parliament, he will be prepared to recommend a grant of a million pounds sterling to Maynooth College, as a compensation for the abolition of the annual grant. This sum in capital will be produced by the sale of an adequate portion of landed estates of the Protestant Church.

A letter from Berlin reports Bismarck's health not satisfactory. He continues to suffer from want of sleep and is obliged to take opium to procure some repose.

Another letter from Berlin says great importance is attached to the interview between the sovereigns of Prussia and Russia. An alliance between the two countries is more than ever spoken of.

Information has been received that the Russian transport Bombora had left the waters of Crete to be replaced by a small gunboat, and the Austrian war vessel stationed there had left for Syria. The French corvette Forbin and the English gunboat Wizard were the only vessels at the harbor of Carmai. On the second of August the steam packet Schield, of the Austrian navy, arrived at Crete, having on board one hundred and ten Cretan families who had taken refuge in Greece, and having accepted amnesty return to their native country. One hundred other families were expected from Syria, and were to embark on the packet Danube, which arrives on the 5th of every month.

NEW YORK, August 26.—The Health authorities are making efforts to suppress and destroy the disease which has recently broken out among the cattle in that city. Every new drove that arrives is thoroughly inspected, and when symptoms of plague are visible they are promptly condemned. On Monday a drove of eighteen animals from Missouri was taken to the cattle yards on One Hundreth street, near East river, when two of them were suddenly discovered to be suffering from disease. One of them was unable to stand, and was destroyed. Yesterday morning the apparently well animals were placed in quarantine.

We have received the following from Hookstown, Pa.: On the 19th day of May, 1868, my husband, Daniel L. Crider, left home on business with the understanding that he would return in one week, but I have never heard of him since. Mr. Crider's business was peddling notions and jewelry. He is thirty-six years of age, five feet ten inches high, slim and neatly formed, auburn hair, blue eyes, fair complexion and large whiskers. Three of his front teeth are out, and when he left home he wore a light gray suit. He is a fluent talker. Any person seeing this notice and can give any information in regard to my husband will confer a great favor on one that is left very destitute.

BILL AND JOE.

BY OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

Come, dear old comrade, you and I
Will steal an hour from days gone by,—
The shining days when life was new,
And all was bright with morning dew,—
The lusty days of long ago,
When you were Bill and I was Joe.

Your name may flaunt a titled trail,
Proud as a cockerel's rainbow tail;
And mine as brief appendix wear
As tam O'shanter's luckless mare;
To-day, old friend, remember still
That I am Joe and you are Bill.

You've won the great world's envied prize,
And grand you look in people's eyes,
With H. U. N. and L. D.,
In big brave letters, fair to see,—
Your first, old fellow! off they go!—
How are you, Bill? How are you, Joe?

You've worn the Judge's ermined robe;
You've taught your name to half the globe;
You've sung mankind a deathless strain;
You've made the dead past live again;
The world may call you what it will,
But you and I are Joe and Bill.

The chaffing young folks stare and say,
"See those old buffers, bent and gray,
They talk like fellows in their teens!
Mad, poor old boys! That's what it means,"—
And shake their heads; they little know
The throbbing hearts of Bill and Joe!—

How Bill forgets his hour of pride,
While Joe sits smiling at his side;
How Joe, in spite of Time's disguise,
Finds the old schoolmate in his eyes,—
Those calm, stern eyes that melt and fill
As Joe looks fondly up at Bill.

Ah, pensive scholar, what is fame?
A fitful tongue of leaping flame;
A giddy whirlwind's fickle gust,
That lifts a pinch of mortal dust;
A few swift years, and who can show
Which dust was Bill and which was Joe?

The weary hand shall take his stand,
Holds out his bruised and aching hand,
While gaping thousands come and go,—
How vain is all this empty show!
Till all at once his pulses thrill;—
'Tis poor old Joe's, "God bless you, Bill!"

And shall we breathe in happier spheres
The names that pleased our mortal ears,
In some sweet hall of harp and song
For earth-worn spirits none too long,
Just whispering of the world below
Where this was Bill, and that was Joe?

No matter; while our home is here
No sounding name is half so dear;
When fades at length our lingering day,
Who cares what pompous tombstones say?
Read on the hearts that love us still,
Hic jacet Joe. Hic jacet Bill.

—Mexico has so many saints, that although every steam engine in the country is named after some saint, there is still quite a large number of these holy personages unprovided with steam engines.

—A young man in Galena stole his father's tombstone from the graveyard the other day and attempted to sell it to a stone-cutter, who was so indignant that he thrashed the would-be tombstone merchant.

—A St. Lonis husband, after a quarrel with his wife, took a singular revenge by putting crape on his door and announcing her death. This so enraged the lady that she immediately eloped with an affinity.

—A curmudgeon thinks the Hindoo custom of burning the widow with the corpse of her husband would have a beneficial effect here, in view of the various cases of mysteriously poisoned Seidlitz powders.

—A Richmond young lady found a burglar under her bed and belabored him so soundly with a press-board that she thinks he will not be able to sit down comfortably for a fortnight. And she was in an evening toilet, too!

—The Hartford Post says that an Illinois correspondent writes to Brick Pomeroy's paper that "the woods are full of Democrats this year." It was so during the draft in 1863—"the woods" and Canada were "full of Democrats."

—A singular fact, and one of as much or more interest to the ethnologist as to the geologist, is that sixteen kinds of fossil horses have been discovered in America, and yet there were no horses here at all when the white men first came.

—The World says "Kurtz has gone to Utica to photograph 'Seymour at home.'" There was no need of haste in the matter. Seymour is likely to remain there for years to come, unless his apprehensions of a lunatic asylum should be realized.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says: A well known Democrat, who was a prominent Pendleton "Escort," has backed down in his ideas. He made a bet, recently, that Seymour would carry Ohio—put up $25—and sued before 'Squire Ross and got it back.

—A Schaffhausen tavern keeper has in his room, in a nice frame, a board-bill which Louis Napoleon has owed him for thirty-nine years. Being a democrat, he says he will not take any money for it. When he wanted it paid, many years ago, he says he could not get a shilling for it.

—Baron Bramwell recently instructed an English jury to give moderate damages in a breach of promise case, because it was a most mischievous thing "to frighten a man into marrying a woman he did not like, by heavy damages. It was much better for the girl that he should find out his dislike before than after."

—Mr. Spurgeon recently rebuked certain of his followers who declined to interfere in politics, on the ground that they "were not of this world." This, he argued, was mere metaphor. "You might as well," he said, "being a sheep of the Lord, decline to eat a mutton chop, on the plea that it would be cannibalism."

—Tullahoma, Tenn., had a wolf chase the other day. The unfortunate animal was driven into the town by a party of hunters, and immediately set upon by the entire population, who turned out and chased him through the steeets until the mail train arrived, when the beast took refuge in a car and was carried off.

—The York, Pa., True Democrat says there will be two total eclipses this year, the first on the 18th of August, invisible in the United States. A second total eclipse (this time the son of old Blair) will take place on the 3d of November, visible in all parts of the United States.

—One of the compliments bestowed by the Mobile Register upon the Northern Democracy is, that a rebel soldier can talk with a Northern Democrat upon political subjects with as much assurance of sympathy and common aim and purpose, as he could feel in talking with one of his old comrades in arms.

—Toothache, according to the London Lancet, can be cured by the following preparation of carbolic acid: To one drachm of collodium add two drachms of Calvert's carbolic acid. A gelatinous mass is precipitated, a small portion of which, inserted in the cavity of an aching tooth, invariably gives immediate relief.

—An English Civil Engineer proposes that when rain clouds hover over any district requiring rain, a good volley shall be fired from heavy guns, which, he says, will have the effect of shaking the rain out of the atmosphere. Perhaps this idea may be serviceable to some of our troops stationed on dry portions of the coast.

—The Pittsburgh Republikaner, the German organ of the Democracy here, did not consider it worth while to be represented at the great outpouring of the Germans on Monday night, but on Wednesday morning, having had time to think about it, came out in a notice of the meeting in which it, being sure that Gen. Schurz is out of reach, tries the effect of its weak sarcasm on him, and asserts that by far the greater part of the audience in City Hall on Monday night was composed of Americans who could not understand one word that was said. Now, if there are fifty Americans in this city who would spend three hours on their feet in a dense crowd for nothing, we should like to have them pointed out. The Republikaner also troubles itself greatly about the money it must have cost the Republicans of the county to bring Gen. Schurz here. We should think the Democratic shoulders have about as much, in Seymour and Blair, to carry as they can well stand, without wasting any sympathy on the Republicans, who can carry the expenses of the campaign now, and the election of Grant and Colfax in November without a murmur.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBUGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, August 26, 1868.

CRUDE—The Crude market, it would appear from to-day's operations, has not yet touched bottom, and, as always is the case, when the market is drooping, buyers seem inclined to hold back, hoping that by so doing they will be enabled to force a still further decline. There were but two sales reported, 2,000 bbls, on spot, at 12c, and 5,000, all the year, buyer's option, at 12½c. After this sale was reported, we heard of an offer to sell the same delivery and option, at 12c. We also heard of a sale of 3,000 bbls at $4,50 per bbl, delivered on cars at Venango City, showing a decline of 25c per barrel at that point since yesterday.

REFINED—The sales of Refined reported to-day were larger in the aggregate than for several days preceding, but the market continues weak and prices are still declining. We can report 500 for August at 30¾; 3,000 next ten days, sellers option, at 30¾; 500 for August at 30½; 500 each for October and November at 32; 1,000 each from September to December at 32; and 500 for September at 31½. At the close, we heard of offers to sell first half of September at 31, also the last four months at same figure, and October to March at 30. As will be seen from the above, sales in the aggregate were unusually large, but prices are lower, and it is said that the most of the oil sold for some days past has been bought by Pittsburgh Refiners.

—General P. D. Roddy, who, a number of years ago, was a popular steamboat commander in the St. Louis and Tennessee trade, and became a Confederate General of cavalry, is now a banker and broker in New York.

—The Little Rock Gazette, of the 19th, says: Since our last issue the river has risen 18 inches, from local tributaries, and had fallen two inches at sundown yesterday, although every day and night brings a heavy rain all around and over us. We report 4½ feet to Napoleon, and in the absence of up river news, two feet in the channel to Fort Smith.

—A late Louisville paper says: Business along the river and the wharf is rather light, with, however, an inquiry for boats for St. Louis, there being considerable freight awaiting shipment from that quarter. The recent rains have caused a rise in the Cumberland, and we can hope for a rise in the Monongahela and the Kanawha. The Nashville Dispatch of last evening says: The river is rising fast, with 3½ feet on Harpeth Shoals. The tributaries are full from the recent floods. Stone River is reported as having risen 7 feet Thursday morning.

—The Memphis Avalanche, of Saturday, says: Capt. John T. Shirley, well known in this city and elsewhere as the builder of the famous Confederate ram Arkansas, and as having been identified with Memphis steamboat interests for many years past, is now in Louisville, having recently returned via the Comanche Express from a tour through California. The Captain left here several months ago, with the intention of remaining permanently in the land of gold, but his impression of the Pacific country, although favorable, were not sufficient to induce him to remain there. He will shortly return to this place, and is already making arrangements to run a packet in the Memphis and Louisville trade.

—We clip the following items from the Cincinnati Commercial, of Tuesday: The levee presented an unusually dull appearance, which may be attributed to the fact that Monday is generally a quiet day in the way of shipments. We anticipate an improvement in trade to-day. The river is again too low for the larger class of side-wheel local packets, and several changes in again substituting light draught steamers may be anticipated to-day and to-morrow. Capt. J. C. Dowty, of the St. Nicholas, has secured the light-draught Celeste, for the New Orleans and Red river trade. She will drop down to the levee to-day, and depart for New Orleans and Red river direct on Saturday. The first bale of new cotton from Davis' Bend, Miss., classed good middling upland, was exhibited, and sold on 'Change yesterday for 55 cents.

—A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, writing from Bath county, Va., on the 15th, thus alludes to the first steamboat: "I forgot to mention in my letter from Berkeley Springs, that at the mouth of Sir John's Run, two and a half miles from the Springs, the first attempts at propelling vessels by steam were made. A man named Rumsey, in 1783, made a little boat, and placed in it an engine, the steam from which was thrown directly from the stern of the boat upon the water, the reaction urging the boat forward. He made other experiments, and then went to Great Britain, and explained his plans to Watts and others. Fulton was then there, and, doubtless, received many valuable suggestions from Ramsey, which he improved upon, until he made his successful essays on the Hudson. It is needless to state how these again have been improved upon, so that oceans and seas ore traversed in marvellously short periods."

—The following letter from the Captain of the steamer Leni Leoti, recently arrived at Fort Benton, will be read with much interest: Landing at a woodyard forty-five miles above Fort Beck, I discovered the dead bodies of the proprietors —seven in number—supposed to have been killed by the Assinab ine Indians, in retaliation for the murder of two of their tribe, two months ago, by woodchoppers in that same vicinity. The bodies of the whites killed were horribly mutilated, and in a state of decomposition. I buried them as well as possible under the circumstances. Thaee of the bodies were outside of the cabin and four within. The entire party came up with me this spring, on the steamer Peninah, from St. Louis, and stopped at that point where they met their sad fate, to cut wood and hunt. Their names were: B. Frank Dowdall, son of J. T. Dowdall, Esq., (firm of Dowdall, Page & Co.) St. Louis; Chas. E. Jones, Kingstree, S. C.; J. R. Lines, Richmond, Va.; F. L. Burton, Lagrange, Tenn.; H. Laubie and H. H. Pennington, of Philadelphia, and W. J. Whittaker, of Wooster, Ohio. Nothing was found but a few letters scattered about the cabin, which I have delivered to W. J. Cullen, Superintendent of Indian Affairs.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 144⅛.

FOREIGN LETTER.—An interesting letter from Paris, from Rev. King, will be found on our Seventh Page.

GOV. GEARY has ordered that the vacancy in the Lancaster Congressional district, consequent upon the decease of Mr. STEVENS, shall be filled by a special election at the regular polls in October.

EX-GOV. BRAMLETTE of Kentucky is the head centre of the Ku-Klux in that State, and is in a measure largely responsible for the reign of terror inaugurated there. So much for the rebel wing of the Democratic party.

OUR friends of the Freedom's Friend, the Republican journal of this city, published yesterday a very full five column report of the masterly speech of General SCHURZ at the City Hall. Copies may be had at the Friend's publication office, or at the Republican headquarters, City Hall. It should be read by every German-speaking citizen.

WAGERS are freely offered on the streets that Mr. SAMUEL ALLENDER, the independent candidate for City Treasurer, will not receive one thousand votes if he insists on going before the people for the office. If he gets one-third that number out of the Republican party, our faith in the honor and justice of politics will be considerably shaken.

A DEMOCRATIC journal in Texas, more honest than others of that faith, tells the negroes that, as long as they have a vote, it should be given to their best friends, the Democratic party, but that this right of suffrage is "an unmitigated curse" to them and will be taken away at the first opportunity. This is frank, and reveals the real policy of the Southern Democracy.

THE President has rewarded another of his "friends in need," the notorious "whisky-ring" PERRY FULLER, who is generally supposed to have been a prominent actor in the corrupt transactions which defeated impeachment, with the lucrative post of Collector of Customs at New Orleans. Mr. JOHNSON knows that gratitude is a becoming trait to exhibit, especially when his country foots the bills.

IN view of the terrible scenes of wrong and murder daily committed on the poor downtrodden blacks of the Southern States, by the hellish auxiliary to the Democretic party known as the Ku-Klux-Klan, how can Christian citizens blind their eyes to countenance SEYMOUR and BLAIR in this campaign? If they happen to be elected there is in store for the people a worse reign of terror than has ever been known in the enlightened world.

GEN. GRANT does not sink the Christian and philahthropist in his role as politician. Quietly, and without any ostentatious display, he labored more than any other person to secure to the widow of Gen. HALPINE (MILES O'REILLY) the emoluments of the unexpired term of the deceased as Register of New York. This act of charity towards the widow and orphans of a bitter political foe, while living, developes the true nobility of the Great Captain.

1848 AND 1868—THE SAME ISSUE.

After an interval of twenty years, the people are again to repeat that emphatic verdict which, in 1848, elected Gen. TAYLOR to the Presidency by an overwhelming majority. The great central idea of that campaign was that the popular will, interpreted through its constitutional representation in the law-making power of the Republic, and subject only to the discriminating examination of the Judiciary, should be accepted as the paramount authority of the American people. The Judiciary department of the Government, by a long course of clear and uncontradicted precedent, has supplemented this idea with but one established exception to its function of revision, otherwise unlimited, in this, that, upon all questions of a purely political character, the legislative authority is absolutely supreme, independent of any such judicial prerogative of constitutional judgment. With this sole exception, the right of judicial appeal has become settled in all interpretations of the Constitution, and, with that exception, the absolute supremacy of the law-making power, with the qualified Executive veto as its legitimate adjunct, was presented as the leading question of the canvass of 1848, and the people pronounced upon it their approval by an overwhelmingly decisive majority. Gen. TAYLOR, in his memorable declarations which substantially declared that he should have no will, no policy of his own in the Presidency, except to execute the laws of the land with fidelity, sounded the key-note of a campaign which was ultimately crowned by an equally memorable triumph.

The similarity, between that canvass and this which Gen. GRANT now leads to a victory equally decisive, is conspicuously marked. The paramount authority of the people, constitutionally exercised in its legislation, is again made the real issue, by a Democracy which, to-day as then, upholds not only the one-man power of the Veto against the absolute right of the millions, but which, now as then, demands that the individual in the Executive chair, with all his human imperfections, shall be accepted as the superior representative of the national wisdom, of the public requirements, of the national honor, and of its material interests, rather than that other law-making power which the constitution expressly creates and to which, by its plain intent, should be confided the entire legislative discretion. In 1848, as in '68, the enemies of the popular authority as expressed by Congress, demanded that the President should have a legislative policy of his own, to which Congress must conform. Supporting Gen. TAYLOR, we took issue with them, accepting "Old ZACK'S" idea that it was for Congress only to legislate and for the President only to execute. And so said the people at the polls.

In 1848, this Veto-loving Democracy insisted upon the unqualified and constant participation of the Executive in the legislative function. In 1868, they dispute the supremacy of the legislature, upholding against it the unconstitutional and abortive efforts of ANDREW JOHNSON to be a Congress unto the people as well as to himself, guilty, as he thereby has been, of the most dangerous usurpations, which have not been so wholly frustrated but that, to-day, they bear disastrous fruit in the disturbed condition of public affairs in a very large section of the Republic. As they opposed TAYLOR in 1848, because he abjured the assumption of unconstitutional powers, so now they oppose GRANT, who also declares that he shall have no policy in the Executive place except to execute the laws. In electing Gen. TAYLOR, we re-established the law-making supremacy of Congress, and recalled the Executive power within its constitutional limits. In electing Gen. GRANT, we are to reiterate the same verdict.

For that, and nothing else but that, is the one great question underlying this present canvass. It is not merely whether that legislation, by which Congress has matured the restoration of a rebellious fragment of the Republic to its "practical relations" to the whole Union under the Constitution, shall stand as the national law, until duly abrogated by a fresh exercise of the same authority. The question is far broader, for it is not one of discretion in the exercise of a power, but of the absolute right to exercise that power at all; it is whether the highest legislative authority, duly chosen by that loyal people which had victoriously crushed an armed rebellion, had any power whatever to proceed in the duty, imposed by the Constitution, of re-establishing in the self-disorganized communities republican forms of government; it is whether this necessary and pressing Constitutional duty belonged to the law-making or to the law-executing power; it is whether either of these powers, under the still Supreme Federal authority, or that other law-breaking, Union-hating, rebellious and treasonable power which spurned our authority, resisted our arms and lifted its murderous hand to take the National life, should assume the interpretation of that Constitution, with all the discretion of its exercise. The supreme legislative power of the Congress of the people—not of one man in the Executive chair, be he JOHNSON or GRANT or SEYMOUR, not of the conquered rebels themselves, architects of their own ruin as they were—to which of these has the work of reconstruction belonged? That is the question. Decide that, and your decision upon all the collateral or resulting questions of the canvass will logically follow. If that work was for Congress only, its exercise presents questions of discretion not of right. If it was for the President, or for the rebel populations themselves, then, and then only, has Congress usurped an illegal authority.

We hold that Congress alone is constitutionally entrusted with this work, and we hold, further, that the work has been done as wisely as it has been within strictly constitutional limits. And so hold General GRANT and the Republican party. The Democracy deny the supreme power of Congress, and maintain that the work of reconstruction lawfully belonged either to President JOHNSON or to the rebels themselves. If not, to whom? And, so holding, their leaders declare all the legislation in that behalf to be void, and proclaim their intention to repudiate it by force.

Gen. GRANT will enter upon the Presidency, as did ZACHARY TAYLOR, pledged to accept and execute the declared policy of the people's representatives. For that, the Democracy oppose him as they opposed TAYLOR before. Gen. GRANT and his friends uphold the right of the people to control their own legislation; so did Gen. TAYLOR, and for that he, like GRANT, was denounced. Gen. GRANT and his friends hold that, although the armed rebellion ended with the last military surrender, yet that the rebellion lives, in the long train of its disastrous fruits, until every trace of its destructive contact with the true theory of a Republican form of government shall have been obliterated; until political institutions "Republican in form" shall have been reestablished in all those populations, in symmetrical harmony with the Union against which they have unavailingly struggled; until the majorities of each of those populations shall have heartily submitted themselves to the conditions which the Federal power has imposed; until there no longer shall exist one State among the ten refusing to render a cheerful obedience to the supreme Federal authority. Until then, the rebellion lives, in spirit although not in arms, as truly as when its closed and sullen lines defied us at Fort Donaldson or Gettysburg.

When "Old ZACK" saw that the moment of triumph at Buena Vista was at hand, and that one more vigorous blow would crown the stars and stripes with a final victory, he delivered it instantly and effectively. "A little more grape, Captain Bragg!" was his order; in thirty minutes that battle was won. So with us to-day, the power of the rebels has been broken, their arms are laid down, but they are not yet loyally reconciled to submission. They still breath defiance; they threaten resistance and war again. Let us give them a little clearer perception of the power of the Union, and of the unflinching sentiment of its people that the Union must and shall be accepted by all within its limits as inviolable and perpetual! Let us ourselves understand that the rebellion ceases to live, only when its treasonable spirit has forever passed away! Let us show our fidelity in securing permanently what our armies have won! Let us uphold the power of the people which upheld the Union through those dark and perilous days! Let us also submit ourselves to the authority of this Congress, which, whatever majority may sway it one way or the other, is to be the supreme legislative power of the Union for all coming time! Let us by a last and decisive vote, make an end of this rebellion against the Constitution, which Democratic rebels began and a rebel Democracy would keep alive! And then we shall have peace.

RESTORATION OF THE "LOST CAUSE."

"Everything for which the South fought will be won," said Governor VANCE, of North Carolina, in his address to his neighbors after he returned from the New York Convention. He was laboring to inspire himself and his hearers with hopes of the election of SEYMOUR and BLAIR, and speaking of the results which would follow that event, the chief of which was that it would, after all, make the rebellion a success. He did not say that the election of the Democratic candidates would merely put them in a better condition than they had been since their rebel armies were captured and their Confederacy swept out of existence, but that "everything for which the South fought would be won."

Governor VANCE is not an idle declaimer, but a man who means what he says; and the key to his meaning is found in the words of FRANK P. BLAIR, who in his letter to Col. BROADHEAD, says among other things equally treasonable and revolutionary—"We must have a President who will execute the will of the people by trampling into the dust the usurpations of Congress known as the Reconstruction Acts. I wish to stand before the Convention upon this issue." Upon this issue he did stand before that Convention, and upon that issue he was put in nomination for Vice President almost by acclamation. He and his letter were both accepted and endorsed by that body, and upon its fearfully atrocious propositions is the issue between the two great parties joined. Well may Governor VANCE talk as he does, for what he says is true.

There are some people who think that these and other similar declarations were hastily and imprudently uttered by men whose blood had become intemperately heated in the enthusiasm of putting a great party into battle array, and that they said more than they really meant. But don't believe a word of it! These things were not said hastily and without deliberation; and any softening down of the tone which we may now hear from the more sagacious men of that party is all for buncombe and will go for nothing. BLAIR'S letter to BROADHEAD was endorsed by the New York Convention; and if the candidates then and there nominated should be elected, it will be taken, and justly so, as an endorsement by the nation of the sentiments therein set forth; and the President elect would feel fully warranted to do all that BLAIR says he must do, if, indeed, he will not feel bound, in obedience to the will of the people, to take it upon himself to nullify the laws of Congress and disperse the governments of the reconstructed States. Bear in mind, it is not proposed to repeal those laws, but to "trample them into the dust."

If those men are permitted to carry out their programme, as boldly and openly declared by themselves, it puts an end to this government; makes a military dictator of the "President elect," as FRANK BLAIR expresses it, and sets everything afloat upon a surging sea of anarchy and confusion. Then indeed the men who fought so desperately for four years to destroy this government will gain everything for which they fought—"everything for which the South fought will be won."

It were difficult to conceive of anything more atrociously wicked than that which these men deliberately propose to do; for it is nothing less than to throw us back into another civil war, to which the fearful addition of anarchy is to be superadded; for to propose that the executive shall be instructed, by the same vote which invests him with power, to trample the laws of Congress into the dust is nothing more nor less than a decree that the government shall be broken up; that the Constitution shall be rendered null and void; that the legislative and judicial departments shall be abolished; and that the President shall be an irresponsible autocrat.

Had FRANK BLAIR written that letter after his nomination we might have supposed that the combined effects of his elevation and strong drink had turned his brain and made a madman of him. But the letter had been written and published before the Convention met, and, so far from damaging his prospects, it was the very thing that carried him through. The rebel wing of the party were delighted with his sentiments and demanded his instant nomination, and the dough-faced wing promptly obeyed. That nomination made that letter a part of the Democratic platform. There is no getting over it, and what is more, there is no intention of getting over it. If SEYMOUR and BLAIR should be chosen, the instructions there laid down will be carried out to the letter; and it will be claimed that it is done in obedience to the will of the people. And the worst of all is, that the claim cannot be gainsayed; for if, with all those plain declarations of purpose put forth by the rebel-democracy before them, the people of the nation shall cast a majority of their suffrages for that ticket, the President elect will be bound to take it as their instructions to him to carry out BLAIR'S programme as endorsed by his Convention and re-endorsed by the people; and the rebels will take care that he does it.

Those rebels have managed to bind their facile fellow Democrats of the North as firmly as ever they had their negroes. They can make them do as they please, and they have done it. They have succeeded in making Democracy and treason and rebellion identical terms, trusting to the strange potency of that much-abused party name to drag their "lost cause" out of that "last ditch" in which GRANT and our brave soldiers buried it. They know as well as we do with what blind fondness thousands of the people of the North adhere to that word Democracy, and they now hope that the same unreasoning love of a mere name will give them a majority. And we know that nine out of ten—perhaps ninety-nine out of a hundred—of all the votes that will be cast for that traitorous and destructive ticket will be given for no other reason than that it bears the label of Democracy. Take off that label, and every honest Democrat would recoil from it with indignation and horror!

HOME MATTERS.

The attention of the friends of General GRANT in these cities has been pointedly attracted of late to the very free expenditure of money by the Democratic leaders in many wards and precincts of the cities and county. Their Club meeting-places, their speaking-stands, music, and the extraordinary number of idlers who throng the streets, especially in the vicinity of Union meetings and processions, persons whose only business seems to be to make the greatest possible noise for SEYMOUR and BLAIR, with as many brick-bats as can be conveniently thrown from dark alleys and corners, and who are doubtless paid in some way for their activity. All these indicate the expenditure of considerably more cash than the Democracy have usually laid out here for electioneering purposes. This may be all well enough. It is not our present purpose to criticise this line of tactics; we desire only to say that these indications should remind every good Union man that our opponents "mean business," that they are in earnest, and that they are making an extraordinary effort to influence the vote of Allegheny county. It behooves every good citizen to be up and doing, to do all he can, at once and with the most direct purpose. All that we need is to emulate the industry of the Democracy in all proper and legitimate ways. Let them have all the "mud-larks" if they choose, but let us see to it that all our voters are "up and dressed" in good time, and that the untiring exertion of our County, City and Ward Committees are seconded as they should be, by the hearty co-operation of every citizen, who looks to October and November for the dawning of an era of rest and peace for all the people in every quarter of the land.

SOUTHERN ADVICES strengthen the impression among all intelligent Republicans that the firm and resolute front, which the loyal authorities of Tennessee present to the rebels in that State, affords an example which must be followed in nearly all the restored States. Throughout the South, the feeling prevails that the intervention of Congress, at a session to be held in September, will be absolutely required, and, as soon as it shall be established that an adequate remedy may not be applied by State legislation, we shall incline to concur in the opinion. The rebel plot to dragoon the loyal population of those States into the surrender of their freedom as citizens by the Democratic appliances of bribery, violence and murder, (whether Texas borrowed it from Clearfield, or WALLACE took the pattern from Fort Pillow Forrest and the K. K. K. of Mississippi, is not yet clear) must be foiled, in whatever legal mode may seem most expedient.

THE Boston Traveller is responsible for the following: "A young man from the country went into a drug store the other day, and seeing the people freely patronizing the soda fountain, at length stepped up and called for a drink of 'that are' for himself. After swallowing the foaming contents of the glass and laying his stamps with a satisfied air upon the counter, 'Mister,' said he, 'what do you call that that bites so?' On being told it was soda water. 'Wall,' said he, 'I sposed it was sweetened wind.'"

A SOUTHERN OPINION OF NORTHERN DEMOCRATS.

When the Charleston Mercury printed the annexed picture of the Northern Democracy, its managers felt quite sure that the party which it thus maligned, would swallow any amount of abusive denunciation, if sugar-coated with an expectation of recovering lost power. What do our German and Irish voters think of the character thus given to them by their brother Democrats at Charleston? Read!

Our women are all conservative, moral, religious and sensitively modest, and abhor the North for its infidelity, gross immorality, licentiousness, anarchy and agrarianism. 'Tis they and the clergy who lead and direct the disunion movement. It is a gross mistake to suppose that Abolition alone is the cause of dissension between the North and the South. The Cavaliers, Jacobites and Huguenots, who settled the South, naturally hate, contemn and despise the Puritans who settled the North. The former are master races—the latter a slave race, and the descendants of the Saxon serfs!

We are the most aristocratic people in the world. Pride of caste, and color, and privilege makes every white man an aristocrat in feeling. Aristocracy is the only safeguard of liberty, the only power watchful and strong enough to exclude monarchical despotisms. At the North, the progress and tendency of opinion is to pure democracy, less government, anarchy, and agrarianism. Military despotism is far preferable to Northern democracy, agrarianism, infidelity, and free love.

Our enemies, the stupid, sensual, ignorant masses of the North, who are as foolish as they are depraved, could not read the signs of the times, did not dream of disunion, but rushed on as heedlessly as a greedy drove of hungry hogs, at the call of their owners. They were promised plunder, and find a famine; promised bread, and were given a stone. Our enemies were starving and disorganized. The cold, naked, hungry masses are at war with their leaders. They are mute, paralyzed, panic-stricken, and have no plan of action for the future.

Better, a thousand times better, to come under the dominion of free negroes or of Gypsies, than of Yankees, or low Germans or Canadians. Gypsies and free negroes have many amiable, noble and generous traits; the Yankees, sour-crout Germans, filthy, whisky-drinking Irish, and Canadians have none. Senator Wade says, and Seward too, that the North will absorb Canada. They are half true; the vile, sensual, animal, brutal, infidel, superstitious Democracy of Canada and the Yankee States will coalesce; and Senator Johnson of Tennessee will join them. But when Canada and Western New York, and New England, and the whole beastly, puritanic, "sour-crout," free-negro, filthy, whisky-drinking Irish, infidel, superititious, licentious, Democratic population of the North become masters of New York—what then? Out of the city, the State of New York is Yankee and puritanical, composed of as base, unprincipled, superstitious, licentious, and agrarian and anarchical population as any on earth. Nay, we do not hesitate to say, it is the vilest population on earth.

THE Springfield Republican tells the following stories: "A worthy deacon in a town somewhere in North America, gave notice at a prayer meeting, the other night, of a church meeting that was to be held immediately after, and unconsciously added, 'There is no objection to the female brethren remaining.' Which reminds us of a clergyman who told in his sermon, last Sunday, of a very affecting scene, where 'there wasn't a dry tear in the house!'"

IS YOUR DISEASE RHEUMATISM?

Many persons, supposing they are suffering from this disease, have applied Liniments, Plasters and other Rheumatic Remedies without obtaining any relief, when in fact the cause of pain is a derangement of the Kidneys. THE BODY RENEWED.

According to Physiologists, the human body is renewed once in seven years. Every day, every hour, every moment, the flesh, the cartilage, bone and muscle of the frame are wasting away, and being imperceptibly replaced by new material. Health depends upon the nature of that material, and whether it shall be pure or diseased, full of vitality and elasticity, or feeble and flaccid, depends mainly upon the action of the stomach. In warm weather the waste of the system is very rapid, and if it is not as rapidly repaired by the great sustaining organ, the consequence is debility, emaciation and decay. It is, therefore, of paramount importance that the stomach be kept in a vigorous condition at this trying season, and the safest, surest and best tonic that can be employed for that purpose is HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This incomparable vegetable stomachic gives unwonted energy to the digestive powers, promotes the conversion of the food into healthful blood, (which is, so to speak, the raw material of all the solid portions of the body,) and thereby puts the system in the best possible state of defence against epidemic or other diseases. The strong require it to keep up their strength; the weak, to re-invigorate them. It consists of the purest of all diffusive stimulants, charged with the juices and extracts of the most genial roots and herbs, and is a permanent restorative—not a mere temporary excitant. It acts simultaneously upon the stomach, the bowels and the liver, and is the best known remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness, costiveness and general debility.

CHRONIC DISEASES OF THE EAR.

In observations and notes taken by Dr. KEYSER, of this city, on the various diseases of the ear, he says that nine out of ten cases could be cured in their incipiency if application were made to some responsible and competent aural surgeon. The Doctor quotes from the opinion of Wilde, a well known aural surgeon, who says: "I fear not to reiterate the assertion which I made on several former occasions, that if the disease of the ear were as well studied or understood by the generality of practitioners, and as early attended to as those of the eye, it would be found that they were just as much within the pale of scientific treatment. * * Deafness is so common and so distressing an infirmity, and when of long standing so incurable, that we cannot too strongly urge all medical practitioners to make themselves familiar with the treatment of the diseases of the ear."

The Doctor says that nearly all annoying Discharges, Buzzings and Morbid Growths peculiar to the organ of the hearing, some of which had lingered through a score or two of years, can be cured or ameliorated by proper treatment.

DR. KEYSER'S RESIDENT OFFICE for LUNG EXAMINATIONS AND THE TREATMENT OF OBSTINATE CHRONIC DISEASES, 120 PENN STREET, PITTSBURGH, PA. Office hours from 9 A. M. UNTIL 3 P. M.

August 15th, 1868.

THERE died at Valley Forge, Penn., on Saturday last, an old womn, known as Grandmother Posey, the widow of a Revolutionary soldier, at the advanced age of 102 years. She was followed to the grave by gray-haired descendants, and was the ancestress of the following progeny: Ten children, eighty-one grandchildren, one hundred and nineteen great-grandchildren, thirty-three great-great-grandchildren, and five great-great-great-grandchildren.

THE Illinois papers tell of a man who lately stole his father's tombstone. That is not as bad as the Democrats, who are robbing the Confederate graveyard of its buried principles.

PITTSBURGH MARKES.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, August 26, 1868.

The general markets are dull and devoid of any new or important characteristics, worthy of special notice. We can report a fair local or consumptive demand for most of the leading commodities, and with a fair volume of business in the aggregate, there are no important changes in values.

GROCERIES—The grocery market is quiet and a little dull, while prices have undergone no quotable change. The demand for Sugars is not near as large as usual at this season of the year, which is owing to the partial failure of small fruits, and our grocery men who expected a big business in sugars are considerably disappointed.

SUGARS—Cuba, 12½c for good grocery 12¾ to 13c for prime; and 14c for choice; Porto Rico—good, 13c; prime, 13½; choice, 14½ to 15c; Clarified Cuba, 14 to 14¾c. Refined—Standard Hard, 17¾c; A, 16¼c; B, 16¼c; Extra C, 15¾c; Sugar House, 10½ to 11.

COFFEE—Rio ranges all the way from 22 to 27c for common to strictly prime. Java 37 to 38c.

SYRUPS—Lovering's $1,05; Silver Drips, $1,05; White Drips, $1,15; medium brands, 75 to 85c; common, 50 to 60c; Booth & Edgar Syrup, 95.

RICE—Rangoon, good, 10c; prime to choice, 11 to 11¼c; Carolina, 12 to 12½c.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, 90 to $1; Cuba, 65 to 70c; Porto Rico, 70 to 85c.

SPICES—Cassia, 80 to 85c; Cloves 50c; Pepper, 38c; Allspice, 35c; Nutmegs, $1,50.

STARCH—Madison, 8c; Silver Gloss, 12½c, and Corn Starch, 13½c.

FRUITS—Layer Rasins, $4,75 per box; Valentia, 20c per lb; Prunes, 17c; Currants, 14c for new.

BAR LEAD—12c; Shot, $3,50 per bag.

SOAPS—"Babbit's," 12c; "Oakely's," 11½c; Rosin, 5 to 7c; "Dobbin's," 15c.

CANDLES—Mould, 16c; Star, 23c.

CONCENTRATED LYE—$8,00 per case.

BI CARB SODA—$8,50 per 100.

FISH—White Fish, $9,00. Lake Herring, $5,00; Mackerel No. 1, $22; No; 2. $18,00; No. 3, $13,50; in half barrels, 50c more.

BUTTER—Is quiet but steady with regular sales of prime to choice at 33 to 36.

CHEESE—Is quiet and unchanged at 14 to 15c for Western Reserve and Hamburg; 16 to 17c for Factory; 18c for Goshen, and 20c for Sweitzer.

EGGS—Firmer, under the influence of diminished receipts, and we now quote fresh packed at 18c.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is scarce and in demand at $2.25. Sales Timothy Seed at $3,35 to $3,50. Cloverseed is nominal at $7,50 to $8.

HAY—Is selling from country wagons at $20 to $30 per ton, as to quality.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat still commands $2,10 to $2,15 for prime to choice Red, though it takes a choice article to command the outside figure; we have sales reported to-day at $2,10 to $2,13½, on spot, and $2,15, delivered. Rye is in steady demand at $1,35, and but little offering. Oats are reported unchanged at 60 to 65c—we hear of some few sales in first hands at 55c. Corn is quiet and unchanged at $1,06 to $1,12 for mixed to prime Yellow. Very little Barley offering—we continue to quote at $1,75 to $1,80.

MILL FEED—The mill prices are unchanged, as follows: Screenings $1; Bran $1,10; Shipstuffs $1,30; and Middlings, $2,20.

SALT—Is dull and unchanged at $1,75 to $1,80. to the trade, for Allegheny River brands, and $2 for small lots in store.

LARD OIL—Is firm but unchanged at $1,20 for No. 2, and $1,50 for No. 1.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is steady with regular jobbing sales at 14 to 14¼ for Shoulders; 18¼ to 18¾ for Clear Sides; and 22 to 22½ for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is still quoted at 19½ to 20 for prime kettle rendered. Mess Pork $30 to $30,50.

APPLES—Continue very dull, with a supply largely in excess of the demand; quotations cannot fairly be given above $2 to $3 per bbl.

POTATOES—Scarce, and we now quote at $3,50 to $4 per bbl, the outside figure for fresh.

MELONS—are quoted at $25 per 100.

FLOUR—Is quiet and rather dull, but unchanged. The City Mills continue to quote White Wheat at $11,30 in barrels, and $11 in sacks; and Red Wheat at $10,80 in barrels, and $10,50 in sacks. Rye Flour unchanged at $0,25 for old.

WHITE LEAD AND ZINC PAINTS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, August 26, 1868.

The advance in Pig Lead, and the reduced stock of dry Lead, warrants us in believing that there will be no decline in prices for some time; but, on the contrary, should there be any very marked increase in the demand for the fall trade an advance may be looked for on White Lead. Messrs. Harris & Ewing, wholesale druggists, corner of Liberty and Wayne streets, quote the following brands:

Strictly Pure White Lead, J. S. & Son	14¼c
Pittsburgh White Lead Works, Pure	13¼c
Banner, Pure	12½c
Eagle, Pure	11c
Pacific, Pure	10c
Pearl, Snow White	8½c
Premium, Pure, assorted cans	14c
Snow White Zinc, J. S. & Son, Pure	16c
Snow White Zinc, P. C. W., Pure	14c
Snow White Zinc, Banner	13c
Snow White Zinc, Imperial	9c

PITTSBURGH DRUG MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, August 27, 1868.

Since our last review of the Market, we note many and important changes in the value of leading articles. Some of these changes arise from legitimate sources and have the appearance of remaining as at present for some time; others are either the result of speculation, or caused by the fluctuations in Gold, and will continue to fluctuate, from day to day. Congress having at length settled the question of the tax on Distilled Spirits, it is to be hoped that the trade in Alcohol and its products will soon fall into a legitimate and healthy channel. At present the market is very unsettled, and inasmuch as the Distilleries have not commenced operations to any extent, under the new law the price does not at present bear a fair proportion to the cost of production and rate of tax; most of the Alcohol now in the market having been removed from bond at an increased value. We note a reduction in the price of Ethers, Chloroform, Spirits Nitre, Hoffman's Anodyne, Granville's Lotion, and all alcoholic preparations. We also note a decline in Tannin, Sugar of Lead, Syrup Iodine Iron, Gum Kino, and Croton Oil. We anticipate a decline in some of the leading Patent Medicines, having for their base, distilled spirits. Citric Acid, Tartaric Acid, Cream Tarter, Rochelle Salts, Seidlitz Mixture, Refined Camphor, Blue Vitrial, Roman Chamomiles, Flake Tragacanth, Castor Oil, Olive Oil and Oils of Lemon, Peppermint, Sassafras, and Spearmint are somewhat higher. Bismuth and its preparations continue to advance, and in consequence of the overflowing of the mines in Saxony, we do not anticipate any decline for several months. Opium is firm at the advance, having re-acted strongly from a temporary depression, and as the new crop is but about two-thirds of the original estimate, we presume the present prices will be maintained. Morphia is held firm, and as it does not yet bear its true relative position to the price of Opium, a further advance may be looked for. Quicksilver and all mercurials are higher, partly in consequence of the advance in Gold, and partly, perhaps, in view of the fact that the market is controlled by one or two leading houses. Under the circumstances, a still further advance would be justifiable and not unexpected. All preparations of Gold and Silver, and all imported goods harmonizing with the fluctuations of the Gold market, are higher. Madder continues high, and will probably remain so. Extract of Logwood and Bi-Chromate Potassa are one cent per pound higher. The Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Company have again advanced the price of Concentrated Lye 50 cents per case, dating from 1st inst. Spirits of Turpentine and Naval Stores generally have ruled low during the past two months, but now tend upward.

LINSEED OIL.—We anticipate a decline in this article, but the very general complaint of the yield of the Flax crop, which a month since promised so abundantly, has caused a rapid advance in Linseed Oil, and quotations, except for the moment, are quite unreliable. Sales have been made within a day or two at $1,16 and $1,18 for Raw, but the article is now held higher.

Messrs. Harris & Ewing have recently introduced to the public two proprietary articles, viz.: Dr. Harris' Electic Summer Cordial, a pleasant, safe and speedy cure for Summer Complaint in children, and for Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, &c., whether in cases of adults or children; and Dr. Harris' Cramp Cure, a specific for Cholera, Cramps, Pain in the Stomach, &c. We are warranted in saying that these remedies are the very best kind ever offered to the public, and certainly more satisfactory in their action than any medicine heretofore on the list of proprietary articles. Dealers who purchase from them are authorized to have the merits of these preparations tested at their expense, and they will in all cases refund the money where the medicine fails to give satisfaction. LETTERS FROM EUROPE---NO. 6.

How Sunday is Broken in Paris—A Day of Work—Versailles and Other Places of Sunday Resort—The Madeleine—The English Congregational Chapel—The Sacrament—A Sunday Fete Reformation Among the People.

PARIS, August 8, 1868.

A SUNDAY IN PARIS.

There is much to arrest the attention of one who visits Paris for the first time. Numerous objects of interest present themselves. It is a city of great beauty and dimensions, and, as it does now, it will hereafter annually attract thousands from all parts of the world. Our first Lord's day in Paris was August 2d; and in this letter I propose to state what came under my own observation as to the way in which the day is spent. The manner in which one Lord's day is spent here is, I doubt not, a fair sample of the manner in which every Lord's day is spent. It is sad, painful, indeed, to one who has been brought up in a land where the first day of the week is sacredly observed; where at the appointed hours reverent worshippers are seen bending their steps towards the house of God, and where it is not only a day of cessation from physical labor, but to thousands a day of rich spiritual enjoyment—it is sad to see what desecration of the Lord's day prevails here. By the mass of the people no difference appears to be made between this day and any other.

Were you to come here in the morning, not knowing on what day you were arriving, from anything you see on the streets, you could not tell that it was the Lord's Day, and if you knew nothing of the habits and customs of the people, you would certainly say it was not. There is no discernable cessation from every day occupations. Some may not work on that day, but amid the multitude that do you cannot tell who they are. I speak now of what is publicly seen, and seen on many of the streets. Paris contains some noble souls. There are pious and godly men and women here; there are evangelical ministers here; but they are few compared with the one million eight hundred thousand souls that constitute the population of this great city.

The day above named was beautiful and delightfully pleasant, though quite warm. The sun rose in a clear unclouded sky, and not a cloud was observable during the entire day. After rising, the first thing I heard was the booming of cannon. On looking out through the window of my room I saw a man with a horse and cart and shovel engaged in gathering up garbage and in clearing the street. I thought nothing of that, as I am a firm believer in the duty and importance of cleanliness. On coming down, however, and looking out on another street (I was stopping in the suburbs of the city in a sort of private family hotel,) I saw carts, going past loaded with stone, that I saw all day. Carts, drays, heavy teams before loaded wagons were going in all directions through the city. On looking into Saturday's paper for a place of worship, to which we might go, we learned that the American Chapel in Paris was closed, and would be closed till the 16th of August. We therefore concluded to go to the English Congregational Chapel, and half an hour earlier than was necessary to be in time we started. On our way the streets presented in general the same appearance that they did on Saturday. We discovered no material difference. It was not at all like a Sunday at home. Masons with chisel and and mallet were busy at work. Blacksmiths were shoeing horses, and hammering over their anvils. The carpenter was shoving his plane and rightly shaping his timber. The drayman with his heavily loaded cart was plodding along. The doors of many of the shops and business houses were open. I do not remember that I saw a single one closed. Clerks were behind their counters and customers were making purchases. To thousands in Paris the Lord's day is literally a day of work and business. It is just as if there was no such day. To thousands more it is a day of pleasure and amusement. The fêtes—so Parisians themselves say—are all on this day, and our landlord said to me: "If you don't go to see the fêtes on Sunday you will never see them, for they're all on that day." Versailles, about twelve miles, southwest of the city, is a great Sunday resort. There are three routes af travel thither—lines of omnibuses that go from many different parts of the city, and two railway trains, one on the right and one on the left bank of the Seine. And you may judge of the number that go out there to spend the day from the fact that on each of these railways trains are run to and from Versailles every hour in the day from 7.30 in the morning till 8:30 in the evening, and the cars, when the weather is pleasant, are crowded, I am told, both outside and inside. Tens of thousands more resort to the various parks, cemeteries, and villas which surround the city. Great numbers are also seen sitting under awnings in front of restaurants and coffee houses, sipping very leisurely their beer and ale.

The English Chapel to which we were going is but a short distance from the Church of the Madeleine (Catholic), one of the finest churches in Paris, and in the world. Its foundations were laid in 1764, but it was not finally completed till 1842, and cost the enormous sum of thirteen million francs, nearly three million dollars. This magnificent structure stands in an open space, upon a basement about twenty feet in height. Its form is that of a Grecian temple, Ionic style, "three hundred and twenty-eight feet in height, one hundred and thirty-eight feet in breadth, surrounded by Corinthian columns fifty feet in height." It is a very beautiful and most attractive building both exteriorly and interiorly. Having half an hour to spend we walked in. Mass was being celebrated. The nave was about half filled with people; some were standing, some were sitting, some were kneeling and some were walking about inspecting the elaborate architecture and the marvellously rich altars, and altar services. Everything was gorgeous; the robes of the officiating priests glittered; the bedaubed dress rich and beautiful, seemed to be a cross between a police officer's and a Major General's uniform. Soon the organ began to send forth its majestic notes, which rolled with such sweetness and melody through all parts of the spacious edifice, that you knew not from what quarter they came. The whole interior was well calculated to excite admiration; splendid paintings, statues in niches, marble floor and marble ceilings—all grand as human skill and taste could make them.

We retraced our steps and in five minutes were at the door of the little chapel. We entered, and what a contrast to what we had just seen! There was no organ, no choir, no altar, no paintings, no holy water, no genuflexions and making of the cross no robed priest. The room was small, about 25 by 60 feet; but abundantly large for the congregation, which consisted of men women and children of 65 persons. An elderly lady, who acted as sexton, showed us seats. The minister, a plain but evidently a good man, after singing, prayer; and reading the Scripture lesson, preached a very good sermon from the 23d verse of the 13th chapter of the book of Numbers. His aim was to incite his hearers to a higher and holier life. The discourse was practical, Scriptural, and was listened to by the little company of apparently very devout and sincere worshippers; and after a busy week of traveling and sight seeing, it greatly refreshed and benefitted us to have our attention called directly to the things of the spirit, and to the joys of the christian life.

The loaf and the cup were on the table in front of the stand, and after the sermon the minister kindly invited God's people to tarry for the communion. About twenty persons, some of whom were residents of Paris, and others from different parts of the world, sat together around the Lord's table. Though strangers in the flesh, we felt that we were one in Christ, and my mind reverted to the many precious communion seasons I have had with my own dear church in Allegheny.

"One family, we dwell in Him,
One church, above, beneath;
Though part-ed by the stream,
The nar ow stream of Death."

On our way to the chapel, and also on our return, crossing a certain street, we saw many small flags floating in the breeze, and attached to the tops of stakes. We inquired what was meant, and was told that there was a fete in that quarter of the city. A band of music was heard all the afternoon, and in the evening a great crowd was assembled. Many streets for some distance were brilliantly illuminated, The scene was a gay one, and enjoyed I have no doubt, by those who were interested in it. There was music, gymnastic exercises, screened by a canvas, however, lotteries, toy shops, auctions, "flying Dutchmen," both those which revolve horizontally and those which revolve vertically, theatres on a small scale, farces, billiards, pools, etc. The streets for some distance around were thronged, and thus the afternoon and evening were spent. Such things are common on the first day of the week, and yet I am told that there has been reformation among the people—that the Lord's day is not now desecrated as it was once. Earnest men, both in Paris and other parts of France, have been laboring to bring about a better state of things, and although much remains to be done, their efforts have not been wholly in vain. J. K.

THE unwillingness of laborers, male and female, to accept employment in the country, while all branches of business are overcrowded in the city, is seriously worrying the people of San Francisco. The Bulletin says: "There has been no time, during the last year, that a large number of men and women were not seeking employment in this city. If an employer wanted five hundred laborers, or ten times that number, for service within the corporate limits of the town, there would be no difficulty in finding his men on short notice. A month's work here, with meagre pay, would overrule all the advantages of going to the country. Not fifty of the five hundred could be had for any farm service. But when the employment of women is considered the case is still worse. The city is crowded with women who are seeking, and in pressing need of some sort of industrial employment. And yet many of these will actually suffer from privations rather than accept service in the country. They crowd the intelligence offices, they advertise in the papers, they call from door to door for employment, and fail to find it, when they know, or could know, that good situations, with more remunerative wages, are offered in the country. There are about fourteen intelligence offices in the city. One of these establishments has from one hundred and fifty to two hundred women in waiting almost every day. The other establishments, on an average, have about thirty. At the Labor Exchange there are about one hundred women daily. The wages offered in the country for women range from $30 to $35 per month, while in the city the range is only from $20 to $25. German and American girls are found willing to go to the interior, but the Irish Catholic girls, almost as a whole, decline to do so, and even this while many of them say that they are in distress."

RECOMMENDATIONS.

The following are a few selected from the multitude of recommendations in our possession:

[From W. P. Heald, Esq., Bangor, Me.]
BANGOR, Me., April 24, 1868.

I hereby certify that I have used tobacco for thirty years past, and for the last fifteen years I have used two pounds per month. I have made attempts to leave off at different times. I have left off one year at a time, but always continued to hanker for it until I used Orton's Preparation, which has completely cured me of the appetite for tobacco. I would recommend all who are afflicted with this terrible habit to try the preparation, which will certainly cure it if the directions are followed.
W. P. HEALD.

[From E. W. Adkins, Knoxville, Tenn.]
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., August 5, 1867.

This is to certify that I had used tobacco to such an extent that my health had become greatly impaired, and my whole system deranged and broken down. In June, 1867, I purchased one box of Orton's Preparation, and after using it I found that I was completely cured. I have not had any hankering or desire for tobacco since using the preparation. I believe it to be all that it is recommended, and I would advise all who wish to quit the use of tobacco to try one box of Orton's Preparation.
E. W. ADKINS.

[From John Morrill, Bangor, Me.
BANGOR, Me., March 24, 1868.

This is to certify that I have used tobacco for eighteen years; have tried many times to leave off, but have suffered so much from a dizziness in my head, and gnawing at my stomach, that I have soon given up the trial. A short time since a friend induced me to try Orton's Preparation (sold by you.) I have done so, and am completely cured. I did not in the least hanker after tobacco, either to smoke or chew, after I began to use the Preparation.

MEDICAL.

A GREAT CURE OF ASTHMA

I feel myself under obligations to you, as well as a duty I owe to others who have been like sufferers with myself, in order that they may know where they can get cured. I had been subject to violent, continued attacks of ASTHMA for more than six years, and had been to great expense and to various medical men of experience without obtaining any permanent relief, or relieved at all. I was so bad that I never knew what it was to be free from the disease. I had to sit up in bed every night for weeks and weeks, without any prospect or hope of cure. My condition was such that I felt life a burthen, and when I got an attack I felt in danger of suffocating every moment. So terrible had been my suffering that my mother says that she has seen me so near suffocation that I was nearly black in the face from the desperate efforts made to get breath. In the cold winter nights, many a night, with the doors and windows of the house thrown wide open, in order to hinder the apparent danger of strangulation. In this condition, on the 13th of October, 1866, having heard of DR. KEYSER'S skill in curing this disease, I called on him, in company with my husband, Joseph Meyers, but I must confess with a great deal of doubt as to effecting a permanent cure. DR. KEYSER examined me carefully, and my lungs all over, with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that with care I would get well. I persevered with his medicines for over a year, and am to-day in vigorous health, and totally FREE FROM THE ASTHMA, and its terribly disagreeable attendants. I have had, once in a while, a slight attack of the disease, but I regard my health as entirely re-established, and if I do have any attack, a few doses of the Doctor's medicine immediately relieves cannot feel too thankful for the exemption from a disease which used to cost me whole weeks and months of loss of sleep, besides suffering which none but those who are subject to this disease can fully appreciate or describe.

NANCY MEYERS,
MARY MOUNT JOY, (her mother,)
GEORGIANA FISHER.
Birmingham, Dec. 9, 1867.

The case of Mrs. Meyers, recited above, is one of more than ordinary importance, because of the violence of the attacks, their continued length, and the great prostration of all the vital powers attending the disease. Any one who knew her during the time she was a sufferer from the disease of which she was cured, and will look at her now, the very picture of robust health, cannot but admit that the cure is one of more than ordinary character, inasmuch as we hear of Asthma every day of our lives being a disease of an incurable nature. Let those who doubt investigate for themselves.

SIGHT RESTORED.

The case to which we allluded some weeks ago, of Christiana Fisher, of Beaver county, is now entirely confirmed by the appearance of Miss Fisher herself, who to-day called on DR. KEYSER in person, to thank him for his kindness and skill in restoring her to ENTIRE AND PERFECT SIGHT. Miss Fisher has been nearly blind for four months. She was so blind that she could not distinguish any object so as to make out what it was. The cure is remarkable, as hundreds of cases like her's are doomed to never ending darkness, on the flimsy pretext that there is no cure, and nothing can be done. She was under DR. KEYSER'S treatment for two months, and before she applied to him, through her brother, Simon Fisher, such boxes were entertained of her ever getting her sight. Her case is well known in the neighborhood where she resides, and has been regarded as one of extraordinary recovery. We, the undersigned, know of the cure of Miss Fisher, and bear willing testimony to the fact above stated.

The case above referred to was entirely cured by medicines to purify the blood, and it is witnessed by scores of persons who have known Miss Fisher, and have a knowledge of her total restoration to health and the recovery of her sight, as the accompanying letter of her brother sets forth:

DR. KEYSER This is the list of names that I have to your advertisement of the cure of my sister, Christiana Fisher. They were all willing to put their names down, and were very much astonished to see that you brought her sight so soon. My mother sends her thanks to you; she says "you are one of the greatest men in the world." She says if we had not come across you she believes her child would not be living at this time. We all join in sending our love and respects to you.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

Statement of GEORGE FORD, carpenter, of No. 16 Sampson street, Allegheny City:

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there I called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He found me the upper none of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the preseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had a cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I found gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well: all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery by the of the medicines given me by DR. KEYSER was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1868.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

Statement of John G. Wigham, of Turtle Creek, Allegheny county:

I was discharged from the United States army in January, 1866, on account of a wound in the head, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough, and fell away in strength and flesh, and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood, and afterwards to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DR. KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of, and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under DR. KEYSER'S medicines from the first week I commenced to use them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunken away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of DR. KEYSER'S treatment and medicines.

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be adpplied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, factories, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

Painting.—The St. Clair street bridge is being painted white.

Meet To-Night.—The Allegheny Councils will hold a regular meeting this evening in their Chambers at 7½ o'clock.

Work Commenced.—The work of laying the foundations of the proposed Library Hall was commenced yesterday.

Relaying.—The roadway between the rails on the St. Clair street bridge is being relaid. The work has to be performed at night, when travel is suspended.

Base Ball.—The Mutual Base Ball Club of this city were beaten in a game by the Forest City Club, of Cleveland, in that city, on Monday. The score stood 39 to 18.

Fornication.—Jesse Allen made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging Arthur and Elizabeth Allen with fornication. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

Personal.—Charley Havis, one of the efficient and obliging guardians of the law at the Union Depot, returned on Monday from the East where he has been spending a short vacation.

Attempted Rescue.—Officer W. E. Hively alleges that while he was taking a prisoner to the lock-up Peter Brown attacked him and attempted a rescue of the man. Alderman McMasters issued a warrant for the arrest of Brown.

Counterfeits on the Saratoga County National Bank, Waterford, New York, have made their appearauce. They are poorly executed, and have evidently been subjected to some process to give them the appearance of having been some time in circulation.

A Wife Beater.—Annie McCallester made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging her husband, James McCallester, with assautt and battery. She alleges that he kicked and beat her in a brutal manner. A warrant was issued for the arrest of James.

Alleged Larceny.—Justice Ammon yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Wilson, of Brownstown, who is charged with larceny on oath of Margaret Boyle. She alleges that Mrs. Wilson came into her house during her absence and abstracted clothing to the value of $20.

Cut His Board Bill.—John Schuzgen was was charged with obtaining board under false pretences, on oath of J. A. Lippert, of Brownstown, before Justice Ammon, yesterday. He alleges that the accused boarded with him for several weeks, and Saturday "skipped" without paying a bill of $20.

The Benninghoff Robbery.—The case of the Commonwealth against the three Willoughby brothers, M. Maloney, Thos. Reagan and J. S. Thompson, alleged to have been engaged in the Benninghoff robbery, was presented to the Grand Jury, at Franklin, on Monday. That body failed to find a true bill, and ordered the discharge of the prisoners.

Surety of the Peace.—James McCormick, charged on oath of Robert Bannier before Justice Heisel, yesterday, with assault, and against whom an information for surety of the peace was made at the same time, was arrested and held to bail for a hearing. It is alleged that he made an assault upon the prosecutor with a horse-whip, and threatened to knock his brains out.

A Good Idea.—We noticed yesterday hand-bills posted on seme of the mail boxes requesting correspondents to use stamped envelopes and have their mail matter directed to the number and places of residence. This, if carried out, would save the Postoffice clerks considerable labor, besides ensuring the safe and prompt delivery of all mail matter throughout the city.

Lawrence Pic Nic.—The first annual pic nic of the Lawrence Fire Company, which takes place at Iron City Park to-day, will, doubtless, be a grand affair. The Lawrence Company is composed of men who are gentlemen in every sense of the word, and from the names published as committee of arrangemen's we have no hesitancy in saying the affair will be a complete success.

Assault and Battery.—Charles Koehl made information before Justice Ammon, yesterday, charging Henry Gamworth with assault and battery. Koehl alleges that the defendant attacked his son, Charles Koehl, a boy about twelve years of age, and beat and abused him shamefully. The parties reside in East Birmingham. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the accused.

A Delinquent.—Mrs. Mary Leod made two informations before Alderman Lindsay, yesterday, against her husband, James Leod. She alleges that the defendant has abandoned her, refusing to do anything for her support, and that on Tuesday evening he came to her dwelling and made threats against her life. He was arrested and committed to jail on each charge.

Money Lost.—John Witthauer, a German, who boards at Sweinheart's tavern, in the Ninth ward, lost a pocket book containing $520 Saturday night. He had been sitting on the cellar door in front of the house during the evening, and while there fell asleep. About ten o'clock he awoke and retired to his bed, but cannot say whether he had his money with him or not. He has heard nothing of it since.

Embezzlement.—F. Kramer made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging George Carlton with embezzlement. Carlton was at one time an inmate of the "Home for the Friendless," on Penn street, from whence he was employed by Mr. Kramer, who is in the insurance business. He alleges that Carlton has been collecting premiums due on policies, and appropriating the money to his own use.

Alleged Attempted Rape.—Elizabeth Jackson, a colored girl, made information, yesterday, before Alderman Donaldson against James Ault for assault and battery with intent to commit a rape. The prosecutrix resides in Temperanceville and the offense is said to have been committed on the public road near that place. The accused was arrested and in default of $500 bail committed for a further hearing.

The "Roundheads."—The second annual meeting of this society will be held at Washington, Pennsylvania, on September 17th. Some distinguished visitors are expected, among whom is General Burnside, late commander of the Ninth Army Corps, to which the 100th Regiment P., V. V., was attached. An address will be delivered before the society by General Leasure, of New Castle. As the entire regiment is embraced in this society, a large meeting is anticipated.

Unprofitable Amusement.—On Tuesday two young men engaged in the novel but, as it proved in the end, rather unprofitable amusement of trying how near they could drive two horses attached to a buggy on the pavement of East Lane without running over pedestrians. Officer Frank Campbell noticed their movements and arrested them. They gave fictitious names at the Mayor's office, but were compelled to pay a fine of five dollars and costs, after which they were released.

POLITICAL.

Republicans of the Eighth Ward, Allegheny, at Work—Organization of a Grant and Colfax Club.

The Republican citizens of the Eighth ward, Allegheny, assembled in large numbers last evening, in Goetteman's Hall, for the purpose of organizing for the campaign.

The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock, Justice Eggers presiding, and Mr. E. L. Jones and the reporter of the GAZETTE officiating as Secretaries.

The President stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of organizing a Grant and Colfax Club, and requested all persons favorable to the object to sign the roll.

In response to this invitation a large majority of those present affixed their names to the roll.

A Constitution and By-Laws was then read by Mr. McConnell and unanimously adopted.

The following officers were then elected:

President—Geo. McConnell.

Vice Presidents—Geo. Moul, H. F. Eggers, G. P. Wilhelm, E. L. Jones.

Recording Secretary—H. C. Hayden.

Corresponding Secretary—Capt. H. Nesmith.

Treasurer—Barney Betts.

On motion, it was decided to hold the regular meetings of the Club on Tuesday evening of each week.

Mr. Eggers (Mr. McConnell in the chair) moved that the several Grant and Colfax Clubs in Allegheny be invited to meet with the Eighth Ward Club at their next meeting. Adopted.

On motion of Mr. Wilhelm, Major A. M. Brown, who was present, was requested to address the meeting. The Major made a brief but pointed address, stating that he was glad to see that the Republicans of the Eighth ward had been fully aroused to the issues of the hour. He had no doubt that around this nucleus would gather the good, the true, the noble, who as a solid phalanx would march up to the polls next November and cast their influence in favor the nation's hero and saviour, U. S. Grant. This election was as important as was the fight between rebels and loyal men in former days. The present contest was simply a continuation of the same fight. If to-day you find a man whose record shows him to have been a rebel, a man who marched in the ranks of those who endeavored to destroy our government, a man who was engaged in shooting down our friends and brothers, you will find that same man enrolled in the ranks of those who now cheer loudly for Seymour and Blair. But their cheers are all in vain. The lovers of their country, those who perilled their lives in its defence, those who gave up their treasures to support it, will see to it that the banner of loyalty and human rights—the banner borne by Grant and Colfax—is carried forward too glorious victory.

On motion of Mr. Eggers, the thanks of the meeting were tendered to the speaker for his able and eloquent address.

Adjourned to meet at the same place on Tuesday evening, Sept. first, at 8 o'clock.

Seventh Ward Nominations.

The Republicans of the Seventh Ward met at the Franklin Street School House last evening for the purpose of suggesting names to be balloted for at the primary election, Saturday, for Councilmen and the several ward offices.

The meeting was organized by calling Alderman Joseph A. Butler to the chair, and appointing Earl S. Gardiner Secretary.

The Chairman stated the object of the meeting and said it was now ready to receive nominations, when the following names were suggested:

Select Council—A. M. Brown and John Wilson—two to be nominated.

Common Council.—David L. Fleming, John Rebman, Robert Flynn, James Roush, and Earl S. Gardiner—3 to be nominated.

School Directors—Thomas C. Wilson, Jno. McFarland, Jacob Zeigler—1 to be nominated.

Assessor—Wm. J. Logan.

Constable—Wm. J. Logan.

Judge of Election—Joseph A. Butler.

Inspector—Fred. Rouck.

Return Inspector—Ed. D. Brush.

On motion David L. Fleming was appointed a committee to superintend the printing of tickets.

On motion it was resolved to hold the Primary Election between the hours of 3 and 7 o'clock, P. M., on Saturday, August 29th, after which the meeting adjourned.

Grant and Colfax at Sewickley.

The Republicans of Sewickley met on Tuesday evening, at the corner of Beaver and Broad streets, in that borough, for the purpose of organizing a Grant Club. The meeting was called to order by B. C. Christy, Esq., and the Club was organized by the election of the following officers:

President—T. H. Nevin.

Vice Presidents—Dr. Wm. Woods, R. G. Householder, T. H. M'Clelland, Charles Atwell, James Douglas and William Harbaugh.

Recording Secretary—Prof. C. B. Wood.

Corresponding Secretary—B. C. Christy.

Treasurer—C. J. P. Kramer.

The Chairman then appointed the following committees:

Finance—Chas. Atwell, Samuel McMasters, G. W. Conn, G. E. Warner and Sam'l Garner.

Music—Dr. Wm. Woods, William Harbaugh and T. H. M'Clelland.

The meeting was then entertained by eloquent addresses from T. H. Nevin, J. H. Baldwin and B. C. Christy.

On motion, it was resolved that the Club meet every Tuesday evening.

The next meeting, Tuesday evening, was set apart for a grand rally, when speakers from a distance will be present.

The meeting then adjourned, and a Glee Club was organized, which will doubtless be heard from frequently during the campaign.

Enthusiasm in West Newton.

On Wednesday evening, August 25th, it became known that Governor Geary was in our quiet town. His visit was unexpected. The desire to do honor to the man and the honorable office he fills soon revealed its lf. Many, old and young, called to take him by the hand and exchange kind words because of his present position and past record.

At seven o'clock in the evening, the S. C. Band, learning that the Governor was the guest of Mr. S. B. Markle, proceeded thither and discoursing sweet music, conducted Governor Geary and General Markle (many citizens falling in line by the way) to the office of E. W. Dumm, Burgess. A store box platform was improvised on the sidewalk. A meeting was called to order by the Burgess—G. F. Kressuer called to preside. After giving a neat, well-timed speech, he introduced Gov. Geary as the orator of the evening.

By this time Main street from Red Road to Second street was filled by hundreds of our citizens. The applause with which the speaker was greeted when he arose showed the hold he had upon the hearts of the people. For an hour the audience was held by the truthful and eloquent recital of the history of the past and the contingencies of the present.

The Governor's plain and timely appeal to the Democracy was strong and must have its effect. His review of the past of Seymour and Blair as contrasted with that of Grant and Colfax will have its influence long after the present campaign is over.

The meeting closed with three rousing cheers for Geary and three for Grant and Colfax. O.

Alleged Larceny.—James H. Kemp made information yesterday, before Alderman Lindsay, charging John Colbert with the larceny of a coat valued at forty dollars. The accused was arrested and committed for trial.

TARENTUM CAMP MEETING.

The Location of the Ground—Improvements by the Trustees and Tent-Holders—Religious Services—Visiting Ministers—Election—Rev. Dr. Dempsey, etc.

This well-known camp ground is located about two miles from Tarentum, and one mile directly back from the railroad. The location is much in the form of a basin, with rising ground all around it. Abundance of water is always to be found at the numerous springs. It is nicely shaded. The ground comprises fourteen acres and is owned by the corporation, held in trust by representatives of the different Methodist churches in the two cities and vicinity. Every year the Trustees have added improvements. Tho ground is now in fine condition, and the roading to it has been graded so as to make it easily accessible.

During the past year the ground has been re-arranged and new avenues have been opened, and a map published showing the location of each lot and the name of the lot-holder. The plan comprises one hundred and twelve lots, but provisions made for increasing the number to a considerable extent. Most of the new tents recently erected are in cottage form, one and two story structures. The trustees had erected not long since an elegant preachers' house, two stories high. The first floor is a sitting room, with a toilet room in the rear. The second story is used for sleeping chambers, with accommodations for twenty or thirty ministers. The building cost over three hundred dollars. The trustees have also erected four large tents for social religious meetings, costing two hundred dollars, and put the springs in complete order, and also made other important improvements. The outlay this season shows about seven hundred dollars, which was secured by donations and tent assessments before the meeting closed. The trustees have just applied to the Court for incorporation.

The Camp Meeting commenced Monday of last week, and closed during the "wee hours" of this morning. The religious exercises were under the immediate direction of Rev. Dr. Dempsey, within whose district the ground is located. The Doctor brought into requisition his enlarged experience in such matters, and everything passed off quite successfully. Dr. Dempsey is now in his fourth term of office, of four years each, consecutively, and is regarded a fine presiding officer. Christ Church is the leading congregation in his district. There were about sixty tents occupied. Being unusually large, they afforded accommodations for a great many persons. The meeting was favored with fine weather, and good order generally prevailed.

Quite a large number of ministers were on the ground during the progress of the meeting. The opening sermon was preached on Wednesday night by Rev. W. H. Locke, of this city. Sermons were delivered by Rev. J. Jones and Rev. J. S. Lemmon, of Pittsburgh; Rev. Z. S. Weller, of Missouri, Rev. S. Burt, Rev. T. S. Hodgson, Dr. L. F. Morgan and Rev. M. B. Pugh, all of this city; Dr. D. L. Dempsey, P. E., E. B. Snyder, of Allegheny City; Rev. R. Hamilton, of Tarentum; Rev. J. A. Miller, Lawrenceville district, and Revs. E. B. Webster, W. Darby and W. W. Roup. Some of these ministers preached twice. Among the visiting ministers we noticed Rev. Dr. H. Miller, Pittsburgh; Rev. R. Jordon, of Armstrong county; Rev. R. Cunningham, Duquesne borough; Rev. R. T. Miller, Braddock's Field; Rev. H. L. Chapman, East Liberty; Rev. W. Long, Pittsburgh; Rev. H. Sinsabaugh, Canton, O.; Rev. J. Grant, of Ohio; Rev. J. W. Baker, Rev. J. J. McIlvar and Rev. John A. Scott, of Allegheny City; Rev. John Martin, Lawrenceville district.

Monday the Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees took place. In addition to the transaction of various items of interest, the following persons were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Jacob H. Walters, Pittsburgh; Vice President, Jas. M. Kier, Tarentum; Treasurer, S. R. Alters, Millerstown; Secretary, T. W. Wright, Pittsburgh.

By the time this paper is placed in the hands of our city readers, the attendants at the camp-meeting will be scattering in different directions to their respective homes.

A Swindler.

Monday morning a scamp arrived at the St. Nicholas Hotel in this city, and under the garb of religion swindled several of the girls employed about the house out of various sums of money. He related that he was a Catholic Priest from Johnstown, and was on his way to Omaha. He was conducted to a room, and a short time after he entered it one of the chambermaids was passing the door, which he had left open. He spoke to her and made some trifling request, just enough to commence a conversation. He soon ascertained that she was a Catholic, and informed her that he was a priest of the Church. He also stated that he was raising funds to assist in building a Catholic Church in Omaha and wanted her and such other Catholics as might be about the house to contribute all they could for that purpose. The girl promptly gave a dollar, and immediately summoned all the other Catholic girls about the house. All contributed such sums as they could afford except one. She informed the church builder that she would leave a dollar for him in the hands of one of the Catholic clergymen of the city, an arrangement to which he strongly objected, but without avail. He succeeded in swindling them out of about twelve dollars and then left the premises.

Row at a Picnic—A Man Stabbed and Seriously Injured.

A row of a rather serious character occurred at a colored picnic in Davis' Grove, near Wood's Run, yesterday afternoon. The affair commenced with an encounter between a couple of the males, one of whom was named Johnson. When the fight commenced, Mr. Samuel Bell, anxious to preserve good order, endeavored to part the belligerents and quell the disturbance. Infuriated by this interference, Johnson, one of the fighters, drew a razor and inflicted a severe and dangerous gash in the abdomen of Bell. This was the commencement of a general row, in which sticks, stones and other missiles were freely used. It was rumored that one man had been shot, but the rumor could not be traced to any reliable source. The rioters, after fighting until they were exhausted, ended the row. The injured man was brought to the city in a carriage and his injuries attended to. The physician thinks his injuries, though severe, they are not nenecessarily fatal. No infomations have been made against any of the parties, but doubtless the Mayor will have plenty of them to-day.

Republican County Executive Committee Meeting.

The Republican County Executive Committee held a regular weekly meeting yesterday at two o'clock, P. M., the Chairman, Col. Russell Errett, presiding.

The reports of the various Committees were submitted and received.

The following resolution was submitted and unanimously adopted.

Resolved, That the Committee on meetings and speakers be directed to so arrange the meetings as to prevent holding Republican and Democratic meetings in any ward or district on the same evening.

On motion of Capt. C. W. Batchelor, it was resolved to hold a Grant mass meeting and procession in this City on Thursday, September 24th.

The Chairman was authorized to appoint a Committee of arrangements.

After the transaction of further business the Committee adjourned.

An Important Campaign Paper.

The special WEEKLY GAZETTE, issued to supply orders from various parts of our own and contiguous States, will be found to-day in wrappers on our counter ready for mailing. No public document of this campaign has met with such universal favor or general demand. It supplies the place of a text book for politicians of both schools, the leading articles having been prepared with much care and research, and with a view to accuracy and reliability. This edition is thoroughly political in its character, and will doubtless accomplish much good. The following are a portion of ins contents:

I. Figures for the People; Cost of the Rebellion—Entire Receipts and Expenditures for eight years. The Public Debt—Federal Taxation. This comprehensive and exhaustive article has attracted wide attention, being the clearest exhibit of our National Finances yet made. The figures are so arranged and minutely explained that a school boy can readily understand the financial problems which now agitate the public mind. It will prove an invaluable reference for Republican speakers, as it fully refutes the seductive arguments of the opposition on the greenback and other financial questions.

II. The New Rebellion, a record of the Democratic Party as made up by itself. This article, compiled from over one hundred Democratic sources—orators and the press—has attracted much attention and shadows the policy of the Democratic party if it succeeds in electing Seymour and Blair. For the genuine, unadulterated doctrines of the opposition this twelve column article will be perused with avidity by all intelligent persons. It is the best Republican document of the campaign, and so acknowledged on all sides.

III. The reader will likewise find the able and spirited addresses of the National Union Republican Committee, and of the Chairman of the Soldiers' and Sailors' State Committee, the Chicago Republican Platform, Speech of Carl Schurz, and many other important political articles, original and selected, making altogether such a paper as should find its way into the hands of every intelligent citizen.

Orders for any number of this special edition by mail will be promptly filled.

"Working" the Market.

Yesterday morning officer Wilson of the City Police arrested Mary Jane Jones, alias Elizabeth M'Carthy, on a charge of larceny. It appears that Mary has been in the business for a number of years, and during Mayor Lowry's administration was arrested on a similar charge in this city. She has been in the city for several weeks, and some time since was committed to jail by the Mayor for disorderly conduct. She was in the market yesterday morning, and after making a small purchase, was observed by the market woman with whom she had been dealing to put her hand in the pocket of a lady's dress who stood near her. After she moved away a short distance the market woman asked the lady if she had not lost her pocket book. The lady felt for it, but it was gone. Officer Wilson was then called in and the woman pointed out to him, whereupon he arrested her, but in a moment afterward the missing pocketbook was found lying a short distance from where she was standing. She was conducted to the Mayor's office and searched when three pocketbooks and about twelve dollsrs in money was found about her person. Two of the pocketbooks were identified by Christina Kappel and Frances Miller, and they each made information charging her with larceny, and after a hearing she was committed to jail in default of bail for her apperance at Court.

She stated that she came to this city from Philadelphia, and it is presumed by the police that she has been "working" the market ever since she came here, as she is known by some of them to be a professional thief.

United States District Court.—Judge McCandless.

The case of the United States vs. twenty barrels of whisky owned by E. & B. Beven, was concluded, a verdict for the United States being rendered by the jury.

G. B. Kulp, Esq., of Wilkesbarre, Luzerne county, on motion of D. C. Harrington, and S. P. Fulton, Esq., of Pittsburgh, on motion of D. Reed, Esq., were duly qualified and admitted to practice in this Court.

The next case taken up was that of the United States vs. three barrels of whisky and other property owned by Strause & Bauner, of Philadelphia. The property was seized at Scranton, on the 8th of June last, for the reason that the Government tax had not been paid. United States Attorney Carnahan and D. C. Harrington, Esq., appeared for the United States, and Josiah Cohen, Esq., for the respondents. The jury found a verdict for the United States.

Narrow Escape—Another Warning.

We are often called upon to chronicle accidents caused by the foolhardy and reckless amusement indulged in by boys of climbing on trains of cars while in motion. Notwithstanding these repeated warbings, the practice is in no wise abated, and the only remedy seems to be to let the parties suffer. The latest case of the kind is that of a boy named Herbel, residing in the Second ward, Allegheny, who climbed on the platform of a freight car which was proceeding to the outer depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad. While standing on the platform a companion gave him a push, which caused him to fall off. Fortunately, he rolled away from the track, and was saved from an instant and horrible death. As it was, however, he was pretty well punished by coming in contact with some sharp stones, and receiving a severe cut on the right side of the head, and having his face and other parts of his body considerably bruised and lacerated. He will, doubtless, learn a lesson from the accident, which will teach him a useful lesson for the future.

An Establishment Broken up.

The residents of First alley in the Third ward, Allegheny have been very much annoyed of late by the carousals and shines of a party of colored males and females, who have made the house of a sable child of Africa, named Mrs. Williams, a rendezvous. It seems that several days since the proprietess was sent to jail for some offence. In the meantime, it is said that her friends, not all mournful at her unfortunate position, have been having "a good time," as one of them expressed it. Last night the Allegheny police put a stop to the proceedings by making a descent on the house. They succeeded in arresting five of the gentler and one of the sterner sex, all of whom seemed to have made an acquaintance with something considerably stronger and more elevating than Adam's ale. After a hearing, the entire party was committed to the tender mercies of Warden Scandrett for twenty days.

A Veteran.

Mr. SIMON DUNN, of Erie, Pennsylvania, summoned hither as a juryman in the U. S. District Court, called at our office on Wednesday. Mr. Dunn is 87 years old. He emigrated from New Jersey to Meadville in Crawford county, in 1797. In June of that year, he passed through what was a mere germ of the present city of Pittsburgh. He can remember of seeing but a single brick tenement, which was one story high, with an attic. There were several board and log houses. He is now amazed at the vast extent and wealth of this city, reached in his own life time. Such enormous results from beginnings so small and in a period so brief are peculiar to America. Mr. Dunn remembers that he was ferried across the Allegheny by James Robinson, father of the late General William Robinson, reported to be the first white native of the territory north of the Allegheny. Mr. Dunn removed to Erie in 1810, where we made his acquaintance about ten years afterwards. In the frontier troubles of 1812, 13 Mr. D. was frequently employed as scout or messenger. In this capacity he was useful to Commodore Perry while his fleet was being prepared at Presque Isle. In the fall of 1813, after the memorable naval engagement on the lake, Mr. Dunn with a select crew of seven men went off in a row boat and captured the British schooner Phœnix with thirteen men, and brought the prize into port without loss. It is of our own knowledge that Mr. Dunn was for all the years of his middle life a man of remarkable industry and energy. We hope his present health and vigor of mind and body may be vouchsafed to the end of the century. Mr. Dunn is, as such men necessarily are—a good Republican.

Wants to Go Back.

Yesterday morning Joseph Fritz, a German, came to the watch house and asked for lodgings, which the Captain kindly furnished him. In answer to inquiries as to where he came from, he stated that he formerly belonged to the United States navy, and on the 4th of February last deserted from the gunboat "Marion," J. M. Taylor commander, which was then doing duty at Annapolis, Md. After deserting he went to Germany, where he was born. He remained there several months, when, becoming tired of "Faderland," he returned to this country, arriving in this city on Tuesday eveuing. He states that he is anxious to return to the service, but has not sufficient money to take him to Annapolis. Officer Messner took him to the U. S. Arsenal, but the commander could not receive him, and poor Fritz was turned loose to work his way back to Annapolis, find employment, beg or starve, which ever might be the most acceptable to him.

Arrest of an Alleged Thief.

The Allegheny police arrested Michael Gallagher on Tuesday evening on suspicion of having stolen some clothing from the dwelling of Mr. Gordon, on the corner of Main and Chestnut streets, Allegheny. It seems that the robbery was committed early in the afternoon, and as soon as discovered the police were notified and furnished with a description of the man, which answers to that of Gallagher. When arrested the prisoner had in his possession a pawn ticket calling for three coats and a pair of pants, which the officers subsequently secured. The clothing was identified by Mr. Gordon yesterday as his property. The accused states that the theft was committed by him while in an intoxicated condition. He was committed to jail for trial.

Accident.

At a Democratic pole raising on East Spring street, Titusville, on Tuesday evening, an accident of a very serious nature happened. The pole had been raised on shears to the distance of about forty feet, when one of the lower supports gave way, and it fell with a crash to the ground. Mr. H. L. McCance, of Oil City, who was holding one of the guys, was felled by a blow on the head, the pole falling heavily across his body, and rebounding several feet, struck him again. He was taken up insensible and removed to the Moore House, and placed under medical attendance. His injuries are serious.

A Severe Fall—A Boy Injured.

A boy named Hamill, son of Mr. Hamill, residing on the Beaver Road, Allegheny, met with a serious accident on Tuesday afternoon, the consequences of which may be fatal. Some men were engaged in sinking a well on the premises and young Hamill was assisting them. While working around the opening he lost his balance and fell in, striking with terrible force the ground at the bottom of the well, which was thirty feet deep. He was removed as speedily as possible and Dr. Herron called in. His injuries are of a severe character, and he lies at his home in a very precarious condition.

"How Sharper Than a Serpent's Tooth it is to Have a Thankless Child."

But how much more infinitely distressing, oh! mothers, to have a poor sewing machine. No tutoring can correct it, no flattery will persuade, no reasoning can influence, no ingenuity of yours can avail, but you must give up in vexation and despair—unless you go immediately and exchange for a "Weed" at the agency, 112 Grant street.

The Weed is always ready and obedient.

Man Run Over.—On Monday evening Mr. Boyd, employed as a driver by Messrs. Carson, Darlington & Co., of the Allegheny brewery, met with an accident which may prove fatal. He was driving a wagon along Corry street, in the First ward, and while walking alongside of the wagon, his foot by some means became entangled in the lines, by which he was thrown under the wheels, which passed over his breast injuring him very severely. Medical attention was secured, but the case is a critical one.

Horse and Buggy Stolen.—A horse and buggy was stolen at Perrysville yesterday evening. A gentleman had hired the horse and buggy at Jackman's livery stable on Penn street and drove t Perrysville, where he hitched the horse to a post in front of a saloon, and during his temporary absence some one got in and drove off. The gentleman returned to the city expecting to find the horse and buggy at the stable, but was disappointed.

Daily Prayer Meetings.—The place of holding the daily noonday prayer meetings has been changed from Rev. Clark's Church to the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, No. 23 Fifth street. The meetings are very interesting, and are generally well attended. Ladies are invited to attend these meetings, as arrangements have been made by which they can be accommodated as well as when they were held in the Church.

CHRONIC CATARRH.

Evidence of Its Curability.

One of the Mayor's Police Says Chronic Catarrh has Reduced Him in Weight to 141 Pounds, and that Under Dr. Aborn's Treatment he has been Relieved of the Distress, and has Gained Twenty-two Pounds, now Weighing 163 Pounds.

I certify that I had been dangerously afflicted with chronic catarrh of the head, which reduced me in weight to 141 pounds. I tried several physicians without avail, and had lost nearly all hope of ever being cured, or even receiving any benefit, being frequently confined to bed for six weeks at a time. I was induced to apply to Dr. Aborn, of 134 Smithfield street, on the 24th of March last, and it affords me great pleasure to state that I have been constantly gaining since I placed myself under the Doctor's skillful treatment, and have gained twenty-two pounds of healthy flesh; and indeed, I look and feel like a new being, many of my friends scarcely recognizing me, such a marvelous change having been wrought in my health.

WM. FLYNN,
City officer, under Mayor Blackmore, Residence Fifth ward, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Most Bitters of the present day that are loudly puffed through the newspapers as having great curative properties are vile compounds and base impositions, containing no medicinal virtues whatever, and are really very poor whisky beverages, and, instead of acting as a stimulant and tonic, have a tendency to weaken the stomach by entirely destroying the coating. The public should therefore be very cautious and purchase none but Roback's Stomach Bitters, which have stood the test as a remedial agent for many years, and are really as their name indicates, a stomach bitters and not a beverage. They combine the properties of the best tonic and a stimulant—a laxative, an efficient and anti-bilious agent and the best stomachic known to the world, and when taken in conjunction with Roback's Blood Pills, are the safest and surest preventive against all bilious derangements, thoroughly regulating the whole system and giving tone to the digestive organs.

They are highly recommended as an invigorating tonic to mothers while nursing, increasing the flow of milk, and for convalescents, to restore the prostration which always follows long-continued sickness, they are unsurpassed. No household should consider themselves safe from the ordinary maladies without these invaluable medicines. They can be obtained of any druggist. TTSF

GENUINE

GLYCERINE TOILET SOAP,

MANUFACTURED BY

PETER SQUIRE, 277 Oxford street, London.

This Soap has been, by a peculiar process, freed from the excess of alkali almost invariably found even in the purest Soaps, and at the same time it is made to take up a large quantity of Glycerine (40 per cent.). It is to this latter substance that it chiefly owes its soothing quality—softening the skin, preserving the complexion, preventing chapping and the unpleasant roughness experienced in cold weather. It is found most useful in alleviating the irritation produced by dryness of the skin. On account of its great purity it recommends itself to all persons that suffer from the use of common Soaps; for delicate skins it is the only Soap that can be tolerated. It is particularly useful for cleansing diseased skins, where the irritation produced by ordinary Soaps causes so much inconvenience. It is the most agreeable Shaving Soap that can be used, leaving the skin soft and comfortable. The Soaps usually sold as Glycerine Soaps contain little or no Glycerine. It is only necessary to apply the tongue to the surface and the genuine will be distinguished by the sweet taste. Agent,

SIMON JOHNSTON,

Corner Smithfield and Fourth Streets.

Also, agent for SARG'S VIENNA GLYCERINE SOAP. au15:TTS
